U.N. Watchdog Post Set Up in Dominican Area

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The United Nations is setting up a watchdog post in the Dominican Republic as the cease-fire threatens to disintegrate into bloody new fighting in this divided city.

An advance party of four U.N. secretariat members was flying here from New York under orders from the Security Council to report on "the present situation."

Indian Maj. Gen. Indar Jit Rikhye, military adviser to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, heads the team, which becomes a kind of third force in the Dominican Republic, alongside the United States and the Organization of American States.

Rebel-operated Radio Santo Domingo was blasted off the air again Friday by automatic weapons fire and possibly a bazooka. A rebel spokesman said a truckload of Dominican troops drove past the station, hitting an antenna and transmitting equipment with their fire.

The station had returned to the air earlier Friday after being knocked out Thursday in an air attack by Dominican air force planes.

The rebel station has been delivering a harangue against the U.S. Marines and paratroopers here, as well as against the forces of the Dominican junta headed by Brig. Gen. Antonio Imbert.

A force of 250 Honduran soldiers has set up a camp near the Duarte Bridge leading into Santo Domingo from the junta's military headquarters at San Isidro air base. The Hondurans — the first contingent of an inter-American peace force authorized by the OAS — are in an area controlled by paratroopers of the U.S. 82nd Airborne Division.

Costa Rican police are being sent and the Nicaraguan Senate approved the dispatch of 164 officers and men to participate in the force.

Venezuelan Foreign Minister Ignacio Iribarren Borges said Venezuela is undecided whether to provide men for the force. Originally, President Raul Leoni had said Venezuelan soldiers would participate if there was a gradual withdrawal of U.S. forces.

The Argentine House of Deputies Friday night voted to condemn the U.S intervention. A statement by President Arturo Illia that Argentina was in favor of helping the Dominican people retain sovereignty was interpreted to mean that Argentina would not send men to join in the OAS force.

In San Juan, Puerto Rico, exiled Dominican president Juan Bosch said the arrival of Hondu-

Voting Rights Curbs Shelved

Senate Is KOing Amendment Tries

WASHINGTON (AP) — As fast as they come up, the Senate is knocking down Southern attempts to drill holes in the voting rights bill.

But they aren't coming up very fast. There is still no firm timetable for Senate passage of the bill which President Johnson two months ago awarded top priority on his legislative list.

House leaders do not plan to begin floor action on the measure until the Senate has approved its version of the bill.

The next Southern challenge is due in the Senate Monday. It will come in the form of an amendment to erase the bill's requirement that the Southern states it covers get advance approval before they put into effect any new laws on election or voting.

The requirement would affect the seven Southern states that would feel the bill's major impact — suspension of literacy tests and federal registration of voters.

If the attorney general objected to changes in their voting laws, these states would have to get them cleared by a three-judge federal court in Washington.

Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., said Friday the requirement would "tear the Constitution to shreds."

"If we can suspend the Constitution in seven states, we can suspend it in all 50 states," he said. "Never before in the history of our republic has something so far reaching been attempted."

The Senate Friday rejected 53 to 14 a Southern-based amendment that would have permitted states covered by the bill to apply nondiscriminatory literacy tests requiring that voters be able to read and write.

So far, the Senate has acted on eight amendments to the bill. All told, more than 60 have been proposed. But some of them are duplicates, and won't come to a vote.

Senate leaders began talking two weeks ago of a move to end the debate. It would take a two-thirds vote to limit each senator to one more hour of talk.

Arms Control Agency Voted Continued Life

WASHINGTON (AP) —Congress has sent President Johnson legislation to continue the life of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency for three years. It would be authorized to spend $30 million.

Johnson had asked for a four-year extension and a $55 million authorization. The House voted three years and $40 million, the Senate two years and $20 million. The final compromise got the Senate's voice vote approval Friday.

Free Speech Unit To Defy OSU Policy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Free Speech Front, student group protesting the controversial speakers rule at Ohio State University, says it plans to defy the rule next week.

Jeff Schwartz, leader of the group, said Friday that Herbert Aptheker, a Marxist, would talk on campus "within a week."

He declined to say specifically where or when Aptheker would speak, and declined to speculate on what action the university might take to prevent it.

The rule, which gives the administration final determination on campus appearances by controversial or subversive speakers, was invoked against an appearance by Aptheker last week. This action set off a series of demonstrations by the Free Speech Front and several faculty members. Aptheker spoke just off campus.

Trustees, who have said they would review the rule in July, declined to take any immediate action on revising it as the student demonstrators had demanded.

Johnson Needles U.S. Press Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson needled the Washington press corps Friday as he spoke informally to members of the American Association of School Administrators in the White House rose garden.

Johnson reiterated portions of a speech he made to the nation Thursday in which he said the United States has helped South Viet Nam double its rice and pig production. "You don't read about any of those things," the President said, "It's awfully hard to get them printed."

But, he said, the press demands instead that the government provide a briefing officer to tell how many planes dropped how many tons of bombs. And if the government doesn't comply, he said, "they'll subpoena us up to the Hill — the Freedom of Information Committee."

First U.S. Woman Cabinet Member Dies at Age 83

NEW YORK (AP) — Top officials in government and organized labor mourned today the death of Frances Perkins, 83, the first U. S. woman Cabinet member.

The colorful, controversial secretary of labor under President Franklin D. Roosevelt from 1933 to 1945 died Friday night in Midtown Hospital on Manhattan's East Side. Her three-corner hat became a symbol that enraged New Deal opponents.

She had left her post as lecturer at the New York State School of Industrial Relations at Cornell University two weeks ago and was admitted to the hospital for a routine examination. She suffered a stroke in the hospital.

The vivacious little lady, who was known as Madame Perkins, was alone when death came. Her daughter and son-in-law had visited her during the day.

Miss Perkins, who was born in Boston of pre-Revolutionary stock on April 10, 1882, spent the last years of her life as an elder stateswoman. Time had mellowed opposition to her term of office during the greatest period of labor turmoil and economic upheaval in American history.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said in Washington that Miss Perkins had steered the Labor Department successfully and brilliantly through a major depression and a world war.

"Every man and woman in America who work at a living wage, under safe conditions, for reasonable hours, or who is protected by unemployment insurance or Social Security is her debtor," Wirtz said in a statement. "Her sympathy to the cause of the working people was a habit of a lifetime. She gave so much of herself to the lives of others that her own was full and complete."

She was the target of much criticism when Social Security and the National Labor Relations Act were introduced and achieved over militant opposition.

Among her critics were such groups as the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

She also was accused of failing to stop strikes and of failing to deal with internal labor problems.

"I have been called incompetent (and worse) because I have not prevented strikes," she once remarked. "And I am aware that there is a theory that if I were a two-fisted male I should be able to stop strikes.

"The accusation that I am a woman is incontrovertible. As for being two-fisted, I'm sure that it is unrealistic and lacking in human knowledge to believe that getting tough and cracking down on working people would make things better."

Miss Perkins, a dark-eyed, dark-haired spry woman, didn't particularly relish references to her sex.

"Being a woman," she said during her first years in the Cabinet, "has only bothered me in climbing trees."

Army Reserve Truce Is Set

But Merger Plan Still in Force

WASHINGTON (AP) —Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and the House Armed Services Committee arranged a cease-fire today in their fight over plans to merge Army Reserve units into the National Guard.

But at an elaborate ceremony announcing the agreement, it was apparent neither party has backed down a bit in the long standing dispute.

McNamara made it clear he is going to put the merger into effect, and the committee made it just as clear it still doubts his authority to do it without congressional approval.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of a subcommittee considering the proposed merger, met with McNamara in the lavish Armed Services Committee room before a crowd of newsmen and television cameras.

The secretary announced he is submitting to the committee a series of legislative proposals dealing with the National Guard and the Army Reserve, but none of them had to do with the merger.

They covered such details as permitting women and retired enlisted men to serve in the National Guard, letting individual reservists be attached to the National Guard for training, and establishing a National Guard in the Virgin Islands.

When McNamara agreed not to put the merger into effect until the committee had cleared the fringe items he was submitting, it appeared he might have conceded a point to the committee.

However, the merger is not due to take place until July 1, and Hebert said he expected to clear the proposed legislation within six to seven weeks.

The net result seemed to be one of those executive-legislative compacts in which both sides appear to gain some desired objective but in which no substantial change really takes place.

'Lion of Kashmir' Supporters Strike

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (AP) — Sheik Mohammed Abdullah's supporters declared a week-long general strike today in another protest against police detention of the 61-year-old "Lion of Kashmir."

Abdullah, who leads the struggle for Kashmiri self-determination, was seized in New Delhi May 8 and exiled to the south Indian town of Cotacamund.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Crop Reporting Service says production of maple syrup in the state this year totaled 108,000 gallons, or six per cent less than in 1964.

360 Teachers Face Dismissal

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — School board officials prepare contract terminations today for 360 union teachers.

Members of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, who have refused since Tuesday to teach, voted again Friday to stand firm on their demand for face-to-face negotiations with school authorities.

"It's no longer a question of salary and money," said George T. Bull, federation local president. "It is a question of the right to negotiate and discuss with the school board."

School Supt. Alex Jardine, who warned that teachers not returning Friday would be fired, ordered attorneys to prepare contract terminations. Jardine said he expected notices to be in the mail today. The teachers will have 45 days to appeal.

North Viet Rejects India's Peace Plan

Red Chinese Hail 'Victory'

Second A-Bomb Test Is Lauded

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China toay called its second atomic explosion "a great victory" but tried to cushion the shock among its dismayed neighbors by promising it will never be the first to use nuclear weapons.

The United States, at the same time, said that President Johnson's statement following the first Chinese explosion seven months ago still holds. It offered to support non-nuclear nations against Chinese atomic blackmail.

"China is developing nuclear weapons solely for defensive purposes," the official Peking People's Daily said today. "It is the sincere hope of the Chinese people that there will never be a nuclear war."

In Japan, the reaction to the explosion was sharp and critical. The government said it would make a strong protest and leftist organizations, normally friendly to Peking, deplored what they called a menace to peace.

The Kyodo news agency called it a time bomb blown up in Japan's back yard.

The newspaper Mainichi said: "However little radioactive dust falls over Japan, we are fed up with it. What the Japanese people really seek is an immediate halt to all nuclear tests for the sake of mankind."

The Chinese did not say whether the second bomb was dropped from an airplane or was touched off from a tower on the ground. Use of the words "over the western areas" was seen by the Japanese as an indication it had come from a plane. If so, this would mean that the Chinese have at least limited delivery capability. In announcing the Oct. 16, 1964, explosion, the Chinese did not use the word "over."

Japanese correspondents in the Chinese capital — who reported intense excitement and jubilation — said there was a strong possibility the bomb was released from a plane.

Western diplomats in Peking regarded the explosion as primarily of political importance and as an answer to U.S. threats of bombing the Chinese mainland if China enters the Viet Nam war.

Rome Chariot Races To Be Revived

ROME (AP) — The Eternal City, whose ancient emperors once favored "panem et circenses" — bread and circuses — to keep the crowds happy, is reviving the day-long chariot races of old.

A new group called the "Committee to Increase Popular Manifestations" announced this week a program May 30 to attract Romans and tourists alike, with event built around an authentic chariot race.

The idea is to bring ancient Roman traditions into modern entertainment and sports.

The chariots, pulled by two-horse teams, will tear around the pine-shaded Piazza di Siena in the city's Borghese Gardens, where the 33rd Rome International Horse Show is going on.

Another attraction will be a balestra contest — a contest with the crossbow.

In the days of the emperors, free entertainment was furnished periodically and lasted from dawn until sunset.

Temple University Backs U.S. Viet Policy

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Temple University students voted 698-292 Friday to send a telegram "to the President of the United States, the secretary of defense, and the secretary of state in concurrence with policy in Viet Nam."

The question was included as a referendum balloting for student council members.

Big Four Aides Eye Viet Crisis

VIENNA (AP) — Chances of any diplomatic breakthrough on Viet Nam appeared dim today as the Big Four foreign ministers gathered in Vienna for the 10th anniversary of the Austrian independence treaty.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart still hoped to sound out Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko privately on the prospects of bringing Red China and North Viet Nam to the conference table without prior conditions.

But Western officials gained the imperssion at a dinner party with Gromyko Friday night that the Soviet Union is not interested in talking with the West about Viet Nam at this stage.

"The time clearly is not right," one Western diplomat commented. French officials said French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville also believes this is not the moment to expect a breakthrough on possible peace talks.

Austrian Foreign Minister Bruno Kreisky was the host at the dinner for the foreign ministers, some of their top advisers and a group of Austrian diplomats.

Rusk returned to his hotel after three hours at the affair and told newsmen, "It was a purely social occasion."

He said there was no meaningful discussion. When asked whether he still hoped to have such a discussion, Rusk raised both arms in a gesture of doubt.

Gromyko, who returned to the same hotel a few minutes earlier said, "It was a very good dinner and a very pleasant conversation." Asked whether he expected to have political talks during his brief stay in Vienna, Gromyko shrugged.

A diplomatic source who attended the dinner said the foreign ministers "scrupulously avoided talking about political issues." He said Rusk and Gromyko talked privately only for about two minutes.

Alex Quaison-Sackey, president of the United Nations General Assembly, was the only dinner guest to return in an optimistic mood.

He said he raised his plan for a compromise in the United Nations financial crisis and was "more hopeful than ever" of an early agreement.

The three Western foreign ministers were scheduled to leave Vienna early Sunday, but American officials said Rusk was prepared to prolong his stay in case of an unexpected reversal of Gromyko's negative attitude.

Space Exploration Leaders Give Views on Future

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two top men from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the agency that puts men and machines into orbit, have finished a day-long tour of the Cleveland area, with these developments:

—James Webb, NASA administrator, talked about a manned jet engine being developed here to nudge space payloads into orbit, then glide back to earth to be used again.

—Webb also asked T. Keith Glennan, president of Case Institute of Technology and his predecessor as NASA chief, to review space agency spending for the next 10 years.

—Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter said life on other planets will be found within about 50 years.

Webb and Carpenter toured NASA's Lewis Research Center Friday and Webb talked to students at Case Tech. Later he spoke to about 750 Rotarians at a luncheon. Carpenter also toured the Lewis facility and talked to students at Lakewood High School.

In a surprise visit to honor Glennan, Webb said he would not let the Case president "escape the space business." Glennan was the first NASA administrator when the program was formed in 1958 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

At Lewis Center, Webb said Lewis engineers have made paper studies of a jet engine to propel a rocket booster at 12 times the speed of sound.

Walter T. Olson, Lewis assistant director of public affairs, described the engine as shaped like a giant airplane.

It would replace present rockets such as the Saturn 5, which are destroyed in the atmosphere after placing their payloads in orbit. The jet engine "is in the distant future," Olson said.

The engine, manned by a pilot, could go fast enough and high enough to nudge into orbit the spaceship it carried, then glide back to earth to be used again, Olson said.

Speaking to more than 2,000 students at Lakewood High, Carpenter said "honest-to-goodness people, animals or whatever you call them, will be found during our lifetimes. I'm prepared to guarantee it."

Webb told the Rotarians that research work done at Lewis has been vital in development of America's huge new rocket engines.

"The Lewis Center is our major U. S. resource for learning how to convert fuel into energy," he said.

$2.1 Billion Fund To Build New Jet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Transport Association said today the airlines have committed $2.1 billion for the development of a new diversified jet flight of short-range, medium-range and long-range aircraft.

The association's annual report on scheduled air transportation said the airlines have 429 new jet and propjet aircraft on order.

The $2.1 billion exceeds the $1.9 billion spent for aircraft in 1957, the peak year of the industry's transition from piston-engine to turbine powered airplanes.

Love Triangle Explodes; 2 Men Killed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A local husband failed in an attempt to break up his estranged wife's companioship with another man, then started shooting on a Columbus street early today. The two men are dead, the woman wounded.

Police said Ralph Crawford, 48, killed himself after fatally shooting Jack McCann, 24, and wounding Neva Crawford, 25.

According to police, McCann was in an automobile with Mrs. Crawford driving along a South Side street when Crawford, in another car, stopped them.

Crawford ordered the couple out and told McCann to leave his estranged wife alone, police related.

She told officers that Crawford threatened that unless she went with him and left McCann he would kill McCann. She refused.

McCann and Mrs. Crawford began walking away and Crawford pulled a .22-caliber revolver. He shot McCann in the chest. The victim went on a few more steps, then died.

Mrs. Crawford was struck in the hip.

Crawford then shot himself in the neck and chest.

Offer Called 'Offensive'

U.S. Curbs Raids Against Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist North Viet Nam rejected today an Indian proposal for ending the war in Viet Nam. It called the offer "an offense" against the Vietnamese people.

The North Vietnamese news agency coupled the rejection with criticism that Indian authorities take "the erroneous viewpoints (which) only benefit the U.S. imperialists."

India proposed April 24 that a cease-fire be observed in all of Viet Nam and that a peace force of the Asian-African countries police the cease-fire line.

Communist China turned down the Indian proposal Friday after denouncing it as "preposterous." The United States has said it was giving careful study to the Indian formula.

It was reported by the Washington Post that the United States has stopped aerial strikes against North Viet Nam pending an intensive reconnaissance survey of damage done and further top-level policy decisions.

For the third straight day there were no air strikes against North Viet Nam today. A U.S. military spokesman declined to discuss the reason.

U.S. aircraft, however, flew 150 sorites against scattered targets in South Viet Nam.

The Post, in a dispatch from Saigon, quoted Rear Adm. Edward C. Outlaw, commander of the 7t hFleet carrier task force, as saying:

"We are making an effort right now to have a look at the damage we have done to get a factual assessment so the analysts can decide what to do in the future."

The dispatch said reliable sources in Saigon made it plain

Soviet Tells India It's Still Friendly

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin assured India today the Soviet Union's efforts to improve relations with Pakistan do not mean a lessening of friendship with India.

The assurance was given in a speech at a Kremlin friendship rally for visiting Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India.

"When the Soviet Union strives to improve its relations with third countries, it does not do it at the expense of Soviet-Indian friendship," Kosygin declared.

President Mohammad Ayub Khan of Pakistan visited Moscow last month. The visit caused some concern in New Delhi that Soviet support for India on such issues as Kashmir might be lessened.

Bearded Monks Tied To Smuggling Probe

ROME (AP) — Charge of complicity in smuggling have been filed against the bearded monks of a Capuchin monastery where a dead man and $64,000 worth of contraband cigarettes were found, a federal prosecutor said today.

"The law is equal for everyone," said chief prosecutor Ignazio Badali of the Velletri District, handling the case. "Friars are no exception to this rule."

They covered such details as permitting women and retired enlisted men to serve in the National Guard, letting individual reservists be attached to the National Guard for training, and establishing a National Guard in the Virgin Islands.

When McNamara agreed not to put the merger into effect until the committee had cleared the fringe items he was submitting, it appeared he might have conceded a point to the committee.

However, the merger is not due to take place until July 1, and Hebert said he expected to clear the proposed legislation within six to seven weeks.

The net result seemed to be one of those executive-legislative compacts in which both sides appear to gain some desired objective but in which no substantial change really takes place.

'Lion of Kashmir' Supporters Strike

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (AP) — Sheik Mohammed Abdullah's supporters declared a week-long general strike today in another protest against police detention of the 61-year-old "Lion of Kashmir."

Abdullah, who leads the struggle for Kashmiri self-determination, was seized in New Delhi May 8 and exiled to the south Indian town of Cotacamund.

Syrup Output Dips

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Crop Reporting Service says production of maple syrup in the state this year totaled 108,000 gallons, or six per cent less than in 1964.

360 Teachers Face Dismissal

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — School board officials prepare contract terminations today for 360 union teachers.

Members of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, who have refused since Tuesday to teach, voted again Friday to stand firm on their demand for face-to-face negotiations with school authorities.

"It's no longer a question of salary and money," said George T. Bull, federation local president. "It is a question of the right to negotiate and discuss with the school board."

School Supt. Alex Jardine, who warned that teachers not returning Friday would be fired, ordered attorneys to prepare contract terminations. Jardine said he expected notices to be in the mail today. The teachers will have 45 days to appeal.

North Viet Rejects India's Peace Plan

Offer Called 'Offensive'

U.S. Curbs Raids Against Reds

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist North Viet Nam rejected today an Indian proposal for ending the war in Viet Nam. It called the offer "an offense" against the Vietnamese people.

The North Vietnamese news agency coupled the rejection with criticism that Indian authorities take "the erroneous viewpoints (which) only benefit the U.S. imperialists."

India proposed April 24 that a cease-fire be observed in all of Viet Nam and that a peace force of the Asian-African countries police the cease-fire line.

Communist China turned down the Indian proposal Friday after denouncing it as "preposterous." The United States has said it was giving careful study to the Indian formula.

It was reported by the Washington Post that the United States has stopped aerial strikes against North Viet Nam pending an intensive reconnaissance survey of damage done and further top-level policy decisions.

For the third straight day there were no air strikes against North Viet Nam today. A U.S. military spokesman declined to discuss the reason.

U.S. aircraft, however, flew 150 sorites against scattered targets in South Viet Nam.

The Post, in a dispatch from Saigon, quoted Rear Adm. Edward C. Outlaw, commander of the 7t hFleet carrier task force, as saying:

"We are making an effort right now to have a look at the damage we have done to get a factual assessment so the analysts can decide what to do in the future."

The dispatch said reliable sources in Saigon made it plain

Red Chinese Hail 'Victory'

Second A-Bomb Test Is Lauded

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China toay called its second atomic explosion "a great victory" but tried to cushion the shock among its dismayed neighbors by promising it will never be the first to use nuclear weapons.

The United States, at the same time, said that President Johnson's statement following the first Chinese explosion seven months ago still holds. It offered to support non-nuclear nations against Chinese atomic blackmail.

"China is developing nuclear weapons solely for defensive purposes," the official Peking People's Daily said today. "It is the sincere hope of the Chinese people that there will never be a nuclear war."

In Japan, the reaction to the explosion was sharp and critical. The government said it would make a strong protest and leftist organizations, normally friendly to Peking, deplored what they called a menace to peace.

The Kyodo news agency called it a time bomb blown up in Japan's back yard.

The newspaper Mainichi said: "However little radioactive dust falls over Japan, we are fed up with it. What the Japanese people really seek is an immediate halt to all nuclear tests for the sake of mankind."

The Chinese did not say whether the second bomb was dropped from an airplane or was touched off from a tower on the ground. Use of the words "over the western areas" was seen by the Japanese as an indication it had come from a plane. If so, this would mean that the Chinese have at least limited delivery capability. In announcing the Oct. 16, 1964, explosion, the Chinese did not use the word "over."

Japanese correspondents in the Chinese capital — who reported intense excitement and jubilation — said there was a strong possibility the bomb was released from a plane.

Western diplomats in Peking regarded the explosion as primarily of political importance and as an answer to U.S. threats of bombing the Chinese mainland if China enters the Viet Nam war.

Rome Chariot Races To Be Revived

ROME (AP) — The Eternal City, whose ancient emperors once favored "panem et circenses" — bread and circuses — to keep the crowds happy, is reviving the day-long chariot races of old.

A new group called the "Committee to Increase Popular Manifestations" announced this week a program May 30 to attract Romans and tourists alike, with event built around an authentic chariot race.

The idea is to bring ancient Roman traditions into modern entertainment and sports.

The chariots, pulled by two-horse teams, will tear around the pine-shaded Piazza di Siena in the city's Borghese Gardens, where the 33rd Rome International Horse Show is going on.

Another attraction will be a balestra contest — a contest with the crossbow.

In the days of the emperors, free entertainment was furnished periodically and lasted from dawn until sunset.

Temple University Backs U.S. Viet Policy

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Temple University students voted 698-292 Friday to send a telegram "to the President of the United States, the secretary of defense, and the secretary of state in concurrence with policy in Viet Nam."

The question was included as a referendum balloting for student council members.

Big Four Aides Eye Viet Crisis

VIENNA (AP) — Chances of any diplomatic breakthrough on Viet Nam appeared dim today as the Big Four foreign ministers gathered in Vienna for the 10th anniversary of the Austrian independence treaty.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart still hoped to sound out Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko privately on the prospects of bringing Red China and North Viet Nam to the conference table without prior conditions.

But Western officials gained the imperssion at a dinner party with Gromyko Friday night that the Soviet Union is not interested in talking with the West about Viet Nam at this stage.

"The time clearly is not right," one Western diplomat commented. French officials said French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville also believes this is not the moment to expect a breakthrough on possible peace talks.

Austrian Foreign Minister Bruno Kreisky was the host at the dinner for the foreign ministers, some of their top advisers and a group of Austrian diplomats.

Rusk returned to his hotel after three hours at the affair and told newsmen, "It was a purely social occasion."

He said there was no meaningful discussion. When asked whether he still hoped to have such a discussion, Rusk raised both arms in a gesture of doubt.

Gromyko, who returned to the same hotel a few minutes earlier said, "It was a very good dinner and a very pleasant conversation." Asked whether he expected to have political talks during his brief stay in Vienna, Gromyko shrugged.

A diplomatic source who attended the dinner said the foreign ministers "scrupulously avoided talking about political issues." He said Rusk and Gromyko talked privately only for about two minutes.

Alex Quaison-Sackey, president of the United Nations General Assembly, was the only dinner guest to return in an optimistic mood.

He said he raised his plan for a compromise in the United Nations financial crisis and was "more hopeful than ever" of an early agreement.

The three Western foreign ministers were scheduled to leave Vienna early Sunday, but American officials said Rusk was prepared to prolong his stay in case of an unexpected reversal of Gromyko's negative attitude.

Space Exploration Leaders Give Views on Future

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two top men from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, the agency that puts men and machines into orbit, have finished a day-long tour of the Cleveland area, with these developments:

—James Webb, NASA administrator, talked about a manned jet engine being developed here to nudge space payloads into orbit, then glide back to earth to be used again.

—Webb also asked T. Keith Glennan, president of Case Institute of Technology and his predecessor as NASA chief, to review space agency spending for the next 10 years.

—Astronaut M. Scott Carpenter said life on other planets will be found within about 50 years.

Webb and Carpenter toured NASA's Lewis Research Center Friday and Webb talked to students at Case Tech. Later he spoke to about 750 Rotarians at a luncheon. Carpenter also toured the Lewis facility and talked to students at Lakewood High School.

In a surprise visit to honor Glennan, Webb said he would not let the Case president "escape the space business." Glennan was the first NASA administrator when the program was formed in 1958 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

At Lewis Center, Webb said Lewis engineers have made paper studies of a jet engine to propel a rocket booster at 12 times the speed of sound.

Walter T. Olson, Lewis assistant director of public affairs, described the engine as shaped like a giant airplane.

It would replace present rockets such as the Saturn 5, which are destroyed in the atmosphere after placing their payloads in orbit. The jet engine "is in the distant future," Olson said.

The engine, manned by a pilot, could go fast enough and high enough to nudge into orbit the spaceship it carried, then glide back to earth to be used again, Olson said.

Speaking to more than 2,000 students at Lakewood High, Carpenter said "honest-to-goodness people, animals or whatever you call them, will be found during our lifetimes. I'm prepared to guarantee it."

Webb told the Rotarians that research work done at Lewis has been vital in development of America's huge new rocket engines.

"The Lewis Center is our major U. S. resource for learning how to convert fuel into energy," he said.

$2.1 Billion Fund To Build New Jet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Transport Association said today the airlines have committed $2.1 billion for the development of a new diversified jet flight of short-range, medium-range and long-range aircraft.

The association's annual report on scheduled air transportation said the airlines have 429 new jet and propjet aircraft on order.

The $2.1 billion exceeds the $1.9 billion spent for aircraft in 1957, the peak year of the industry's transition from piston-engine to turbine powered airplanes.

Love Triangle Explodes; 2 Men Killed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A local husband failed in an attempt to break up his estranged wife's companioship with another man, then started shooting on a Columbus street early today. The two men are dead, the woman wounded.

Police said Ralph Crawford, 48, killed himself after fatally shooting Jack McCann, 24, and wounding Neva Crawford, 25.

According to police, McCann was in an automobile with Mrs. Crawford driving along a South Side street when Crawford, in another car, stopped them.

Crawford ordered the couple out and told McCann to leave his estranged wife alone, police related.

She told officers that Crawford threatened that unless she went with him and left McCann he would kill McCann. She refused.

McCann and Mrs. Crawford began walking away and Crawford pulled a .22-caliber revolver. He shot McCann in the chest. The victim went on a few more steps, then died.

Mrs. Crawford was struck in the hip.

Crawford then shot himself in the neck and chest.

Soviet Tells India It's Still Friendly

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin assured India today the Soviet Union's efforts to improve relations with Pakistan do not mean a lessening of friendship with India.

The assurance was given in a speech at a Kremlin friendship rally for visiting Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India.

"When the Soviet Union strives to improve its relations with third countries, it does not do it at the expense of Soviet-Indian friendship," Kosygin declared.

President Mohammad Ayub Khan of Pakistan visited Moscow last month. The visit caused some concern in New Delhi that Soviet support for India on such issues as Kashmir might be lessened.

Bearded Monks Tied To Smuggling Probe

ROME (AP) — Charge of complicity in smuggling have been filed against the bearded monks of a Capuchin monastery where a dead man and $64,000 worth of contraband cigarettes were found, a federal prosecutor said today.

"The law is equal for everyone," said chief prosecutor Ignazio Badali of the Velletri District, handling the case. "Friars are no exception to this rule."

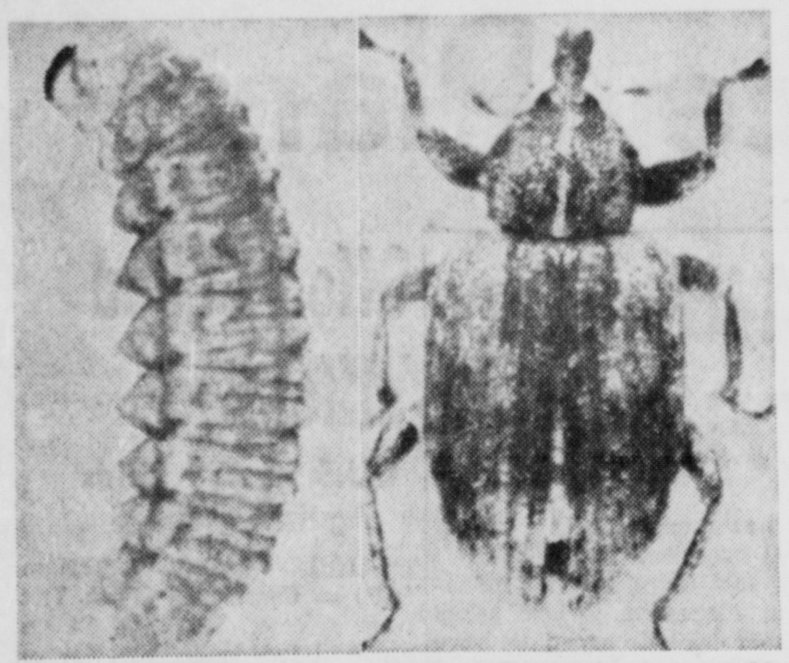
Alfalfa Weevil Outbreak Spreads



WEEVIL STAGES — These photos indicate the two notable stages in the life cycle of the alfalfa weevil. The larva stage (left), normally three-eighths of an inch long, is the one in which the terminal plant growth is destroyed. The larva live about three to four weeks, drop to the ground and spin a frail cocoon. In about one or two weeks they then emerge as the adult "snout beetle" (right), normally three-sixteenths of an inch long.

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

The outbreak of alfalfa weevil continues to spread in Pickaway County.

Damaging infestations have been noted as far north in the county as Fox. Farmers should check fields every few days for outbreaks.

The larvae are rapidly hatching in many of our alfalfa fields. They feed upon the terminal growth of the alfalfa plant. This feeding will appear in the distance to be frost damage or wilting.

A closer observation will show severe feeding of the terminal leaves, with nothing remaining except mid-rib and veins of leaves. These larvae will feed for three to four weeks. The larval stage is the only one in which the insect will damage crops.

* * *

AFTER the larval feeding period they drop to the ground and spin a frail cocoon. The adults emerge from this cocoon in one to two weeks.

The adult are snout beetles and are about three-sixteenths of an inch long. They are brown with a broad dark stripe extending down their backs.

Most of the adults leave alfalfa fields soon after emergence and remain inactive during the summer in protected places nearby. They return to alfalfa fields in the fall.

Infestations that are now occuring may be controlled by harvesting the first crop now and then treating the second cutting. Control is not recommended unless 50 per cent of the terminals show evidence of feeding damage.

If chemical control is needed then malathion, methoxychlor or guthion are recommended. With malathion there is no limitation on harvesting or pasturing, with methoxychlor farmers wait 7 days and with guthion they must wait 21 days.

Positive identification may be secured by calling the County Extension office. The office also has available a new bulletin describing the damage, life cycle and control of the alfalfa weevil.

Bumper Crop of Dandelions Is Produced This Spring

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

With a bumper crop of dandelions appearing in lawns this spring, many questions have arisen on how to control them.

The reason so many dandelions showed is because the weather and soil conditions were just right for germination of the seed winter kill of established plants was low.

According to Ohio State University Extension agronomists, sprays using the "amine" form of 2, 4-D will give temporary relief this spring. But treatments this time of the year are also the most injurious to highly susceptible, beneficial plants growing nearby, such as roses, tomatoes, grapes nasturtiums, zinnias and certain ornamentals and trees.

Actually, the best time to spray for dandelions is in the autumn, just before frost. Most of the beneficial plants will have hardened off by this time and are better able to resist injury.

* * *

FALL spraying also has the advantage of killing established dandelions plus the seedlings that have grown since early summer. A thorough fall application will give you a dandelion-free lawn next year.

The ideal time of day to spray is when the temperature is between 70 and 85 degrees Fahrenheit. Above 85 degrees, the chance of injury to the turf increases and below 70 degrees the 2, 4-D is less effective.

Pick a day when the soil moisture is high and the weeds are growing rapidly. The spray must remain on the weeds for at least six hours to be completely effective.

Do not apply just before or after mowing — a reasonable amount of foliage must be present at the time of spraying.

Spray early in the morning when the wind is calm to prevent "drift" onto your neighbor's lawn. Use a coarse spray or a sprinkling can to do the job.

A sprinkling can is the safest. But the head must have small holes to prevent waste of spray material.

RECORDS show that about 44 per cent of Ohio's total 4-H membership are farm boys and girls, about 3 per cent are from rural non-farm homes and 18 per cent are from urban homes.

U. S. FOOD and Drug Administration laboratories continually test individual producer samples of fruits, vegetables and other foods for pesticide residues.

MANY SPECIES of gall insects infest shade trees and conifers. Gall damage can be prevented by applying malathion to suspect trees at the time the buds have broken and the leaves are about one-third grown.

LIVESTOCK and meat exports to Common Market countries last year totaled $115 million. This was 33 per cent above 1963 and 11 per cent above the previous record in 1959, say Ohio State University Extension economists.

IF CUTS on trees or shrubs are more than one inch in diameter, some protection should be given to prevent decay organisms or diseases from entering. Painting the wounds with an asphalt varnish containing an antiseptic is a good practice.

OHIO 4-H club reports indicate a trend toward more year-round club activity, a longer tenure among club advisers and more effort to counsel boys and girls on career opportunities.

SCS Technician Advocates Proper Tillage Methods

"Erosion is nothing to crow about"

CONSERVATION is SOMETHING TO CROW ABOUT

Farmers or others who work with the land may save their soil and conserve moisture by proper tillage methods, Donald Archer local soil conservationist points out.

During this season when plowing or otherwise breaking the soil, particular attention given to turning the earth, to fit the land contours, or to leaving critical areas in grass may save work and actual loss of soil later on.

"A common mistake is to plow too close to an open ditch." Archer explains. "Leave a carpet of grass several feet back from the edge of the ditch so the water running into the ditch may be slowed up or soak in, and so it may not cut the side of the ditch, taking away soil and filling it."

"Another mistake is to leave a waterway too narrow," the local soil conservationist continued. A few feet spared for a filter patch for the water will pay for itelf economically in the soil saved.

Plowing too close to a fence row may leave a trench in which water will accumulate and stand according to Archer. It also takes away nesting places for birds and wildlife which we all need if we are to keep nature in balance.

Water falling on the land will naturally seek the lower places, to the larger streams. For the good of all people who live on the land, it is necessary to slow its descent; it cannot be stopped, but it can be kept less destructive.

Where possible all eroded and bare spots should be seeded to grass. A little thought in handling the land that is worked can be an investment that pays good dividends.

SUDUM
Ready for the Drill!
The Versatile Miracle Crop!

The sudan-sorghum hybrid has a place in the program of every dairyman and cattle man, with or without a trench or other silo. The quick growth of palatable, high protein feed is unequaled. No other crop produces the tonnage, and offers you the choice of either pasture, chopping, ensilage hay or combination of these, in the same package. SUDUM, also offers you the alternative of hay, the second and third growth, will make excellent fine textured hay.

SUDUM can be planted now and still produce large quantities of feed. Under normal conditions it is ready for use within a month of planting, and can be used until frost.

All sudan-sorghum hybrids stool out after they are pastured or cut, but SUDUM stools out from the beginning, which not only gives you greater yield, but finer growth, smaller stalks and more leaves. The leaves provide the most protein, so you get better quality feed with SUDUM.

SCS Technician Advocates Proper Tillage Methods

"Erosion is nothing to crow about"

CONSERVATION is SOMETHING TO CROW ABOUT

Farmers or others who work with the land may save their soil and conserve moisture by proper tillage methods, Donald Archer local soil conservationist points out.

During this season when plowing or otherwise breaking the soil, particular attention given to turning the earth, to fit the land contours, or to leaving critical areas in grass may save work and actual loss of soil later on.

"A common mistake is to plow too close to an open ditch." Archer explains. "Leave a carpet of grass several feet back from the edge of the ditch so the water running into the ditch may be slowed up or soak in, and so it may not cut the side of the ditch, taking away soil and filling it."

"Another mistake is to leave a waterway too narrow," the local soil conservationist continued. A few feet spared for a filter patch for the water will pay for itelf economically in the soil saved.

Plowing too close to a fence row may leave a trench in which water will accumulate and stand according to Archer. It also takes away nesting places for birds and wildlife which we all need if we are to keep nature in balance.

Water falling on the land will naturally seek the lower places, to the larger streams. For the good of all people who live on the land, it is necessary to slow its descent; it cannot be stopped, but it can be kept less destructive.

Where possible all eroded and bare spots should be seeded to grass. A little thought in handling the land that is worked can be an investment that pays good dividends.

For the Birds

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — Firemen agreed that the run they made to the Farmers Feed and Hardware Store was "for the birds."

Instead of a fire, they found a red - tinted flashing light which the company had installed in its warehouse to discourage birds from entering.

SUDUM
Ready for the Drill!
The Versatile Miracle Crop!

The sudan-sorghum hybrid has a place in the program of every dairyman and cattle man, with or without a trench or other silo. The quick growth of palatable, high protein feed is unequaled. No other crop produces the tonnage, and offers you the choice of either pasture, chopping, ensilage hay or combination of these, in the same package. SUDUM, also offers you the alternative of hay, the second and third growth, will make excellent fine textured hay.

SUDUM can be planted now and still produce large quantities of feed. Under normal conditions it is ready for use within a month of planting, and can be used until frost.

All sudan-sorghum hybrids stool out after they are pastured or cut, but SUDUM stools out from the beginning, which not only gives you greater yield, but finer growth, smaller stalks and more leaves. The leaves provide the most protein, so you get better quality feed with SUDUM.

Ohio Cattlemen Field Day Set

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

Ohio cattlemen will have an opportunity on June 3 to see result of research in the beef cattle industry.

This marks the date of Beef Cattle Field Day at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station's Northwestern Substation at Hoytville, O. The event is slated to get under way at 9 a. m. standard time.

This special day is open to the public, and is being held to highlight advances which have been made in cattle feeding and management, according to Field Day chairman Dr. Earle W. Klosterman. He says that much of the research to be discussed during the event deals with practical problems faced by cattlemen.

Tours have been scheduled to allow visitors to visit research areas at the Substation during the one-day event. Those who attend will hear scientists from the Experiment Station and specialists from the Cooperative Extension Service discuss a range of topics dealing with production, management and animal health.

* * *

BECAUSE of the importance of corn silage in beef cattle production, much of the day's program will be used to present result of research with corn silage. These topics include complete silage feeding trials at the Northwest Substation, adding non-protein nitrogen to corn silage, yield and digestibility of corn silage harvested at different stages of maturity, and how to get the most beef from your corn acreage.

H. W. Newland, from Michigan State University, will also be on hand to participate in the program. He will talk about studies with urea and center cut corn silage.

Other topics include animal health problems such as IBR and mucosal disease complex, feedlot bloat and rumen dysfunction, machine losses in harvesting ear and shelled corn, and slotted floors for fattening cattle.

Two other topics should also spark the interest of Ohio cattlemen. One of these covers changes in the beef grading system. The other deals with profitable cattle feeding and is based on result of a research study of cattle feeding in northwestern Ohio.

Homemaker News

By MRS. EMMA LOU HARTLAGE Home Economics Agent

Summertime can be school time for Ohio homemakers. Registration is now open for the 10th Homemakers' Short Course on June 15, 16 and 17 at Ohio State University.

Homemakers' Short Course is a special three - day conference designed to give women an opportunity to share in campus life and participate in useful classes. It is sponsored by the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service and the Ohio Extension Homemakers' Council.

Each participant enrolls in two classes of her choice — one in home economics and one a related subject. The classes will be taught by OSU faculty members and other qualified teachers.

The "students" will also attend special assemblies highlighting the conference theme, "Our Changing Years".

This year's home economics classes include sessions on clothing, food buying, budgeting, management, family life, furniture selection, food and nutrition and quantity meal planning. Topics for the related subjects classes are driver safety, fishing, Ohio history, physical education, personal appearance, music appreciation, family camping and social problems.

The clothing class will offer guides for selecting becomingly fitted dresses and "pants" from the ready-to-wear market.

New developments in foods and food packaging will be discussed in the food buying class.

Anticipating adulthood, preparing for the world of work, and marriage and its responsibilities are the main topics to be discussed by the family life specialist.

What and how to plan for various occasions where food must be serve to a large group of people will be discussed by the Institutional Management Specialist.

Perhaps many desire to attend the driver safety class and learn about safety tips and aids, defensive driving principles, safety equipment and freeway driving.

Those who are a good sport may like to learn to identify fish, get acquainted with fishing equipment and learn to handle freshly - caught fish.

If you figure and posture need improvement then you would like to learn appropriate exercises in the physical education class.

Some perhaps would like an opportunity to sing together and develop an appreciation of various types of music.

Any Ohio homemaker is eligible to attend Homemakers' Short Course. There is a $7 registration fee for classes, activities and the annual banquet. Students who stay on campus will pay an additional $13 for dormitory room and meals.

The Cooperative Extension Service office, 159½ E. Main St. can provide further information on the Short Course program and registration.

Leaflet Describes Advantages of High Dry Matter

Farmers can produce better silage and save themselves work at the same time by storing the crop at a higher dry matter content than has been customary in the past.

Two dairy science authorities, Avery D. Pratt of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station and Ralph A. Porterfield of the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service discuss the merits of high dry matter silage in a new leaflet now available at the County Extension office. The publication is entitled "High Dry Matter or Low Moisture Silage."

Pratt and Porterfield note that wilting a crop containing 20 per cent dry matter until it contains 60 per cent dry matter reduces three tons of material to a single ton and cut the weight to be handled by two-thirds. the high dry matter silage also is more acceptable to livestock, they point out.

The scientists suggest several steps to consider in making better silage. The first step, they say, is to cut the crop while it is still sufficiently immature to be highly digestible and palatable. Another is to crush, crimp, or otherwise condition the hay to hasten drying.

Abbott Fails To Get New Death Trial

CINCINNATI (AP)—Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Judge Louis J. Schneider has refused to grant a new trial to Robert R. Abbott, 21, of Dayton, Ky. convicted March 24 in the hotel room slaying of Wanda Cook, a 24-year-old Bellevue, Ky. nurse.

Judge Schneider then sentenced Abbott to life imprisonment.

The sentence was mandatory under terms of the jury's verdict which convicted Abbott of first-degree murder with a recommendation for mercy. Miss Cook was kiled last Oct. 15.

Harry McIlwain, Abbott's attorney, said the conviction would be appealed to the Ohio 1st District Court of Appeals.

McIlwain had sought the new trial on the basis of claims of error in the trial and of newly discovered evidence. He said the new evidence involved statements by Alice Ewing, 22, of Fort Thomas, Ky. after the trial which he said contradicted parts of the testimony she gave during the trial.

Miss Ewing was Abbott's fiancee and she still faces a charge of illegal removal of a dead body.

She has admitted she helped Abbott remove Miss Cook's body from a room in the downtown Sheraton-Gibson Hotel and ship it to Cleveland where it was found several days later in a trunk.

Leaflet Describes Advantages of High Dry Matter

Farmers can produce better silage and save themselves work at the same time by storing the crop at a higher dry matter content than has been customary in the past.

Two dairy science authorities, Avery D. Pratt of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station and Ralph A. Porterfield of the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service discuss the merits of high dry matter silage in a new leaflet now available at the County Extension office. The publication is entitled "High Dry Matter or Low Moisture Silage."

Pratt and Porterfield note that wilting a crop containing 20 per cent dry matter until it contains 60 per cent dry matter reduces three tons of material to a single ton and cut the weight to be handled by two-thirds. the high dry matter silage also is more acceptable to livestock, they point out.

The scientists suggest several steps to consider in making better silage. The first step, they say, is to cut the crop while it is still sufficiently immature to be highly digestible and palatable. Another is to crush, crimp, or otherwise condition the hay to hasten drying.

Abbott Fails To Get New Death Trial

CINCINNATI (AP)—Hamilton County Common Pleas Court Judge Louis J. Schneider has refused to grant a new trial to Robert R. Abbott, 21, of Dayton, Ky. convicted March 24 in the hotel room slaying of Wanda Cook, a 24-year-old Bellevue, Ky. nurse.

Judge Schneider then sentenced Abbott to life imprisonment.

The sentence was mandatory under terms of the jury's verdict which convicted Abbott of first-degree murder with a recommendation for mercy. Miss Cook was kiled last Oct. 15.

Harry McIlwain, Abbott's attorney, said the conviction would be appealed to the Ohio 1st District Court of Appeals.

McIlwain had sought the new trial on the basis of claims of error in the trial and of newly discovered evidence. He said the new evidence involved statements by Alice Ewing, 22, of Fort Thomas, Ky. after the trial which he said contradicted parts of the testimony she gave during the trial.

Miss Ewing was Abbott's fiancee and she still faces a charge of illegal removal of a dead body.

She has admitted she helped Abbott remove Miss Cook's body from a room in the downtown Sheraton-Gibson Hotel and ship it to Cleveland where it was found several days later in a trunk.

Sensible Proposal

Since the assassination of President Kennedy there has been agitation for legislation designed to protect the innocent citizenry against the criminal or demented use of firearms.

To this end several pieces of legislation are now before Congress, but care must be taken that any law which may be passed will not work more of a hardship on the peaceable user of firearms than upon the relatively rare lawbreaker.

Bills requiring the licensing or registration of guns would serve mostly as an annoyance (or in some cases as an actual hardship) chiefly upon the hunter, the sportsman and the collector. A man with murder in his heart isn't going to worry about abiding by registration or licensing laws, nor is any other criminal who feels a need for weapons.

A reasonable alternative was introduced by Rep. Bob Casey of Texas, and provides for a mandatory 25-year federal sentence for anyone guilty of using or carrying a firearm during the commission of a robbery, assault, murder, rape, or similar crime.

Rep. Casey said he hopes his proposed legislation will "stop the hysterical outcries to unduly penalize the law-abiding citizen through imposition of rigid and unworkable restrictions on sale, registration, or taxation of firearms, when the heart of the problem is to find a way to protect these same good citizens from the criminal in our midst."

His proposal is immensely more satisfactory than those by Sen. Dodd, which would prohibit mail order sales to individuals, thus penalizing the many to restrict the few.

Factors in Steel

A study of steel prices made by the President's Council of Economic Advisers at Mr. Johnson's request indicates the industry could give the United Steelworkers a 3 per cent increase in wages and benefits without raising prices. The conclusion is opposed by both management and union, for different reasons.

A 3 per cent increase would mean a little more than 13 cents an hour in additional pay and fringe benefits. This is substantially less than the approximately 18 cents demanded by the union, although the current four-month strike truce was arranged at an 11.5-cents-an-hour raise.

The council's recommendation was based on its finding that the industry's long-term growth in productivity has averaged also about 3 per cent. Management, however, contends the productivity gain has been only 2 per cent. Furthermore, Roger M. Blough, chairman of U. S. Steel Corp., has challenged the council's estimate that the industry's profits are adequate to justify a 3 per cent wage increase.

David J. McDonald, USW president until June 1, was fully as critical of the council's report. He says he has never accepted the idea that productivity is the sole factor in determining wage rates in the steel industry. Productivity, he insists, "is only one of about 14 factors involved."

Mr. McDonald didn't specify what the other 13 factors are. Presumably, though, they all add up to more money.

There's No Rush

Congress seems to have lost that sense of urgency in regard to agriculture legislation that normally marks its deliberations in behalf of the farm belt. Ariculture Secretary Freeman's efforts to get things moving on Capitol Hill have thus far produced what he calls "apathy."

House Agriculture Committee specialists seem to be considering the administration's proposals merely as routine matters meriting no serious concern. Their counterparts in the Senate, preoccupied with other business, haven't even taken up the bill.

Perhaps the legislators' apathy is due to the fact that two leading farm organizations are opposed for different reasons to President Johnson's recommendations. The National Farmers Union, normally a supporter of Democratic administration proposals for farmers, contends the bill doesn't go far enough.

The American Farm Bureau Federation, largest and most conservative of agriculture groups, has declared the bill a "hoax" on both farmers and consumers.

Perhaps what has really influenced congressional apathy toward farm legislation in 1965 is the current stability of agriculture economy. Except for eggs, commodity prices have been holding up in the face of higher production. That seems to be reason enough for legislators not to get excited about a farm bill in an off-election year.

Village Likes Being Inferior

By EDDY GILMORE
(For Hal Boyle)

LONDON (AP) —A government agency admitted today it is encountering opposition in trying to cure a village with a split personality.

Located in East Anglia, it has problems as real as a schizophrenic's. But its residents don't seem to give a whoop.

Official maps list one half of the village as Rockinghall Inferior. And just as officially, they list the other half as Rockinghall Superior.

The authoritative Bartholomew's Gazetter says:

"Rockinghall Superior, parish and village in East Suffolk, population 302.

"Rockinghall Superiore, parish and village in East Suffolk, population 428."

Said a spokesman for Britain's Local Government Commission, an agency that is trying to streamline county administration and abolish the boundary between Inferior and Superior:

"The Inferiors don't mind a bit being called Inferior. In fact, that's the rub. They want to stay that way."

Conceived by some official shortly after the Norman invasion in 1066, the administrative dividing line between East and West Suffolk zig-zags down the village's single main street.

East and West Suffolk operate as separate county administrations.

If you get in trouble in Rockinghall Inferior, a constable from West Suffolk arrests you. In Superior, the arm of the law is East Suffolk.

Inferior has its own parish council.

Superior has its council.

The boundary has its craziest moment when it runs lengthwise through the home of Miss Sybil Tuck, 87, causing her to pay taxes for her kitchen, dining room, scullery, thee bedrooms and bathroom in Superior, while the taxes on drawing room, study and four bedrooms are paid in Inferior.

Inferior's parish council chairman, Tom Marshal, said:

"West Suffolk has the best administration, best schools, best roads and best officials, we are happy where we are."

Said the Superior parish council chairman, Fred Bailey:

"If the Inferiors join us they'll save money on their taxes. Ours are cheaper. In the long run this will prove the turning point."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

What causes constant bed wetting? I have six grandchildren ranging in age from seven years to a few months. They all wet the bed and my daughter is almost out of her mind. She has done everything from shaming them to ignoring it and nothing seems to help. Please help us.

Mrs. A. B., New York

Dear Mrs. B.: One of the most distressing problems of childhood is persistent bed wetting. This disorder known as enuresis is only rarely caused by a physical disorder. Sometimes bladder disturbances can be the result of some anatomical malformation. Infections of the bladder, cystitis and pyelitis, may cause urgency and frequency of urination. All physical possibilities must be ruled out completely before the conclusion can be reached that the cause is purely psychological.

It is said that emotional tensions, anxiety and insecurity can unconsciously make a child want to return to the security of infancy.

The presence of a new baby may unconsciously provoke bed wetting as an attention getter and as a device to compete for some of the attention given to the new born.

In your daughter's problem, it almost seems too apparent that the rivalry for attention and affection may have been handed down from child-to-child in a chain reaction.

Ignoring the problem of bed wetting is impossible. Only the wet bed can be ignored by your daughter. More attention rather than planned neglect to the chidren and their problem is necessary.

Shaming a child only serves to bury more deeply the underlying causes and to confuse rather than clarify them.

Assuming that there is no familial abnormality, how then does a disturbed mother set about to stop such a bed wetting avalanche?

Immediate consultation with a psychiatrist, psychologist or social service agency will expose the general emotional climate of the home. The relationship of the parents to each other, and their attitude towards the children must honestly be evaluated.

A surprising observation was made by a famous specialist in psychosomatic medicine. Dr. O. Spurgeon English said, "the sumptoms of bed wetting is peculiarly variable. In some cases the bed wetting ceases after the child's first visit with the analyst, and never recurs. In other cases it ceases permanently after the parent makes the appointment with the analyst." Of course, this is not the general rule.

After the emotional structure of your daughter's family is clearly inspected, the origin of the bed wetting chain may quickly be uncovered.

Ther is good likelihood that the control of one child may be the incentive for all the other children to give up their "crying need" for added attention, expressed as bed wetting.

Subtle problems of the mind need the specialized direction of physicians and others qualified by long study and experience. Tricks and gagets are wasteful and time consuming and only delay the solution of a remediable problem.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — The business upswing seems set to take the traditional summer slump in stride an hit new highs in the fall. But even the most confident acclaimers of the record-breaking surge of prosperity are warning of things that could undermine it.

Complacency is one. Death of new stimulants is another. Inflation seems unlikely now but the seeds of it might take root.

And the very age of the expansion, now in its 51st month for a peacetime record, leads doubters of the infallibility of the new economics to wonder if the historic perils of the business cycle have been licked for sure. In short, have they repealed the law that what goes up must come down sometime?

More immediate threats are sighted for the summer months. Will the usual letdown for vacation closing of plants be accented by a drop in new orders for steel? The answer lies in whether a steel strike Sept. 1 becomes more likely, or whether a labor settlement will mean higher prices and perhaps spur higher demands for wage increases in other industries.

The administration is warning against complacency, of abandoning caution, in many fields. Business and consumer foregoing of excesses has continued the prosperity surge. The administration is warning against overconfidence at the same time it is calling for continuing calm reliance in the powers of the economy to deal with current problems.

Competition has held prices remarkably steady. But as production expands, the excess capacity that has fed this competition is dwindling. This, too, is being watched.

The federal government has applied effective stimulants to keep the business upswing in high gear. Tax cuts for individuals and corporations have supplied more spending money. Relaxing of depreciation rules has given corporations more cash to use for expansion.

What new stimulants are ahead? Federal excise taxes are due to be cut this year and maybe some more next year. But will this offset the pocketbook drain of the stiff rise in Social Security tax rates in January?

Government spending is rising at federal, state and local levels. But state and local taxes have been going up, too. And some critics of the Great Society fear that its costs will escalate so fast that an inflationary type of treasury deficit will result while the federal debt rises rapidly. Could that bring new tax burdens in the future?

Warming up of the cold war could increase the financial burdens of defense that were beginning to lighten.

Voluntary cutbacks in private investment abroad helped turn the outflow of U.S. dollars into a return flow instead, at least temporarily. But the administration warns business against any complacent relaxation of its efforts.

Dear Editor:

Now that the Third National Bank has purchased the Marfield property, a decision is about to be made concerning the future of the home there.

The decision is whether to restore the building and make a beautiful bank and let Circleville claim it as one of its few remaining landmarks, or tear it down and put up another modern structure and call it progress.

While we still have a chance to say how we feel about it, let's shower the Third National Bank with notes pleading to restore rather than destroy — and recapture the spirit of "ole Roundtown."

Sensible Proposal

Since the assassination of President Kennedy there has been agitation for legislation designed to protect the innocent citizenry against the criminal or demented use of firearms.

To this end several pieces of legislation are now before Congress, but care must be taken that any law which may be passed will not work more of a hardship on the peaceable user of firearms than upon the relatively rare lawbreaker.

Bills requiring the licensing or registration of guns would serve mostly as an annoyance (or in some cases as an actual hardship) chiefly upon the hunter, the sportsman and the collector. A man with murder in his heart isn't going to worry about abiding by registration or licensing laws, nor is any other criminal who feels a need for weapons.

A reasonable alternative was introduced by Rep. Bob Casey of Texas, and provides for a mandatory 25-year federal sentence for anyone guilty of using or carrying a firearm during the commission of a robbery, assault, murder, rape, or similar crime.

Rep. Casey said he hopes his proposed legislation will "stop the hysterical outcries to unduly penalize the law-abiding citizen through imposition of rigid and unworkable restrictions on sale, registration, or taxation of firearms, when the heart of the problem is to find a way to protect these same good citizens from the criminal in our midst."

His proposal is immensely more satisfactory than those by Sen. Dodd, which would prohibit mail order sales to individuals, thus penalizing the many to restrict the few.

Factors in Steel

A study of steel prices made by the President's Council of Economic Advisers at Mr. Johnson's request indicates the industry could give the United Steelworkers a 3 per cent increase in wages and benefits without raising prices. The conclusion is opposed by both management and union, for different reasons.

A 3 per cent increase would mean a little more than 13 cents an hour in additional pay and fringe benefits. This is substantially less than the approximately 18 cents demanded by the union, although the current four-month strike truce was arranged at an 11.5-cents-an-hour raise.

The council's recommendation was based on its finding that the industry's long-term growth in productivity has averaged also about 3 per cent. Management, however, contends the productivity gain has been only 2 per cent. Furthermore, Roger M. Blough, chairman of U. S. Steel Corp., has challenged the council's estimate that the industry's profits are adequate to justify a 3 per cent wage increase.

David J. McDonald, USW president until June 1, was fully as critical of the council's report. He says he has never accepted the idea that productivity is the sole factor in determining wage rates in the steel industry. Productivity, he insists, "is only one of about 14 factors involved."

Mr. McDonald didn't specify what the other 13 factors are. Presumably, though, they all add up to more money.

There's No Rush

Congress seems to have lost that sense of urgency in regard to agriculture legislation that normally marks its deliberations in behalf of the farm belt. Ariculture Secretary Freeman's efforts to get things moving on Capitol Hill have thus far produced what he calls "apathy."

House Agriculture Committee specialists seem to be considering the administration's proposals merely as routine matters meriting no serious concern. Their counterparts in the Senate, preoccupied with other business, haven't even taken up the bill.

Perhaps the legislators' apathy is due to the fact that two leading farm organizations are opposed for different reasons to President Johnson's recommendations. The National Farmers Union, normally a supporter of Democratic administration proposals for farmers, contends the bill doesn't go far enough.

The American Farm Bureau Federation, largest and most conservative of agriculture groups, has declared the bill a "hoax" on both farmers and consumers.

Perhaps what has really influenced congressional apathy toward farm legislation in 1965 is the current stability of agriculture economy. Except for eggs, commodity prices have been holding up in the face of higher production. That seems to be reason enough for legislators not to get excited about a farm bill in an off-election year.

Village Likes Being Inferior

By EDDY GILMORE
(For Hal Boyle)

LONDON (AP) —A government agency admitted today it is encountering opposition in trying to cure a village with a split personality.

Located in East Anglia, it has problems as real as a schizophrenic's. But its residents don't seem to give a whoop.

Official maps list one half of the village as Rockinghall Inferior. And just as officially, they list the other half as Rockinghall Superior.

The authoritative Bartholomew's Gazetter says:

"Rockinghall Superior, parish and village in East Suffolk, population 302.

"Rockinghall Superiore, parish and village in East Suffolk, population 428."

Said a spokesman for Britain's Local Government Commission, an agency that is trying to streamline county administration and abolish the boundary between Inferior and Superior:

"The Inferiors don't mind a bit being called Inferior. In fact, that's the rub. They want to stay that way."

Conceived by some official shortly after the Norman invasion in 1066, the administrative dividing line between East and West Suffolk zig-zags down the village's single main street.

East and West Suffolk operate as separate county administrations.

If you get in trouble in Rockinghall Inferior, a constable from West Suffolk arrests you. In Superior, the arm of the law is East Suffolk.

Inferior has its own parish council.

Superior has its council.

The boundary has its craziest moment when it runs lengthwise through the home of Miss Sybil Tuck, 87, causing her to pay taxes for her kitchen, dining room, scullery, thee bedrooms and bathroom in Superior, while the taxes on drawing room, study and four bedrooms are paid in Inferior.

Inferior's parish council chairman, Tom Marshal, said:

"West Suffolk has the best administration, best schools, best roads and best officials, we are happy where we are."

Said the Superior parish council chairman, Fred Bailey:

"If the Inferiors join us they'll save money on their taxes. Ours are cheaper. In the long run this will prove the turning point."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

What causes constant bed wetting? I have six grandchildren ranging in age from seven years to a few months. They all wet the bed and my daughter is almost out of her mind. She has done everything from shaming them to ignoring it and nothing seems to help. Please help us.

Mrs. A. B., New York

Dear Mrs. B.: One of the most distressing problems of childhood is persistent bed wetting. This disorder known as enuresis is only rarely caused by a physical disorder. Sometimes bladder disturbances can be the result of some anatomical malformation. Infections of the bladder, cystitis and pyelitis, may cause urgency and frequency of urination. All physical possibilities must be ruled out completely before the conclusion can be reached that the cause is purely psychological.

It is said that emotional tensions, anxiety and insecurity can unconsciously make a child want to return to the security of infancy.

The presence of a new baby may unconsciously provoke bed wetting as an attention getter and as a device to compete for some of the attention given to the new born.

In your daughter's problem, it almost seems too apparent that the rivalry for attention and affection may have been handed down from child-to-child in a chain reaction.

Ignoring the problem of bed wetting is impossible. Only the wet bed can be ignored by your daughter. More attention rather than planned neglect to the chidren and their problem is necessary.

Shaming a child only serves to bury more deeply the underlying causes and to confuse rather than clarify them.

Assuming that there is no familial abnormality, how then does a disturbed mother set about to stop such a bed wetting avalanche?

Immediate consultation with a psychiatrist, psychologist or social service agency will expose the general emotional climate of the home. The relationship of the parents to each other, and their attitude towards the children must honestly be evaluated.

A surprising observation was made by a famous specialist in psychosomatic medicine. Dr. O. Spurgeon English said, "the sumptoms of bed wetting is peculiarly variable. In some cases the bed wetting ceases after the child's first visit with the analyst, and never recurs. In other cases it ceases permanently after the parent makes the appointment with the analyst." Of course, this is not the general rule.

After the emotional structure of your daughter's family is clearly inspected, the origin of the bed wetting chain may quickly be uncovered.

Ther is good likelihood that the control of one child may be the incentive for all the other children to give up their "crying need" for added attention, expressed as bed wetting.

Subtle problems of the mind need the specialized direction of physicians and others qualified by long study and experience. Tricks and gagets are wasteful and time consuming and only delay the solution of a remediable problem.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — The business upswing seems set to take the traditional summer slump in stride an hit new highs in the fall. But even the most confident acclaimers of the record-breaking surge of prosperity are warning of things that could undermine it.

Complacency is one. Death of new stimulants is another. Inflation seems unlikely now but the seeds of it might take root.

And the very age of the expansion, now in its 51st month for a peacetime record, leads doubters of the infallibility of the new economics to wonder if the historic perils of the business cycle have been licked for sure. In short, have they repealed the law that what goes up must come down sometime?

More immediate threats are sighted for the summer months. Will the usual letdown for vacation closing of plants be accented by a drop in new orders for steel? The answer lies in whether a steel strike Sept. 1 becomes more likely, or whether a labor settlement will mean higher prices and perhaps spur higher demands for wage increases in other industries.

The administration is warning against complacency, of abandoning caution, in many fields. Business and consumer foregoing of excesses has continued the prosperity surge. The administration is warning against overconfidence at the same time it is calling for continuing calm reliance in the powers of the economy to deal with current problems.

Competition has held prices remarkably steady. But as production expands, the excess capacity that has fed this competition is dwindling. This, too, is being watched.

The federal government has applied effective stimulants to keep the business upswing in high gear. Tax cuts for individuals and corporations have supplied more spending money. Relaxing of depreciation rules has given corporations more cash to use for expansion.

What new stimulants are ahead? Federal excise taxes are due to be cut this year and maybe some more next year. But will this offset the pocketbook drain of the stiff rise in Social Security tax rates in January?

Government spending is rising at federal, state and local levels. But state and local taxes have been going up, too. And some critics of the Great Society fear that its costs will escalate so fast that an inflationary type of treasury deficit will result while the federal debt rises rapidly. Could that bring new tax burdens in the future?

Warming up of the cold war could increase the financial burdens of defense that were beginning to lighten.

Voluntary cutbacks in private investment abroad helped turn the outflow of U.S. dollars into a return flow instead, at least temporarily. But the administration warns business against any complacent relaxation of its efforts.

Dear Editor:

Now that the Third National Bank has purchased the Marfield property, a decision is about to be made concerning the future of the home there.

The decision is whether to restore the building and make a beautiful bank and let Circleville claim it as one of its few remaining landmarks, or tear it down and put up another modern structure and call it progress.

While we still have a chance to say how we feel about it, let's shower the Third National Bank with notes pleading to restore rather than destroy — and recapture the spirit of "ole Roundtown."

Neo-Nazis Linked to U.S. Klan

OSLO, Norway (AP) —Newspaper reports in Oslo and Stockholm say neo-Nazi groups operating throughout Scandinavia have links with the Ku Klux Klan in Alabama and Texas.

The Norwegian government organ Arbeiderbladet said today that a Scandinavian group called Nordiski Rikspartiet (Nordic Reich Party) has a "fuehrer" in each of the Nordic countries.

Sweden's largest newspaper, Expressen, said the leader of a recently discovered neo - Nazi action group in Stockholm also held membership in the Klan.

Rhodes 'Elated' as Ohio Voters 'Reverse Economic Down-Spiral'

By REED SITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes is elated over voter help in reversing an economic "down spiral."

He feels that primary election approval of a $290 million bond issue for capital improvements and a state industrial loan program assures jobs and progress.

That's the way Finance Director Richard Krabach, administration money manager, describes the current Ohio scene.

Krabach engineered Rhodes' early austerity drive to wipe out an inherited state deficit, reduce the biggest poor relief load in the nation and create 200,000 new jobs — all without new or increased taxes.

Now, with "money in the bank", welfare in hand and the job goal in sight, Rhodes is writing an "up spiral" chapter in Ohio's history book, Krabach asserts.

Rhodes' slogan, "Profit is not a dirty word in Ohio," is quoted nationwide.

When the state of Washington asked how he did it, Rhodes dispatched Krabach to the West Coast a week ago to tell officials how to keep state spending within income and balance the budget.

It isn't easy, Krabach said, but it works like this:

Boosting taxes for more money to treat social ills only leads to "more of the same" and eventually to a down spiral.

By creating jobs, you get self-sufficient taxpayers in place of hand-out dependents and the spiral goes up.

More than two years of tireless spade work as governor went into Rhodes' effort to create a favorable industrial climate with the goal of making Ohio the nation's No. 1 producer

The most recent payoff: A $75 million General Mills plant in Lancaster to serve the east from Maine to Florida, and a new General Motors plant in Lordstown, between Warren and Youngstown, that will employ 5,700 workers.

New highways and Ohio's new tax moratorium were determining factors in locating those plants and others, it was explained.

When the GM Fisher Body plant hits full production, a dozen or more haul - away trucks, each carrying five cars, will take to the highways hourly.

Bond issues made it possible for Ohio to get a fast start on fourlane throughfares and they will do the same for urgently needed facilities in education, recreation and other areas, Krabach asserts.

Rhodes, a Republican, has been the target of increasing attacks by Democrats who claim he is "bonding the state to death". They describe bond financing as far more costly that the pay-as-you-go method.

But Krabach estimates that gasoline taxes would have to be raised three cents a gallon for highways under pay-as-you-go "to get the kind of a program we have now". Another penny boost in the retail sales tax would be needed to put capital improvements on the same basis, he figures.

"Such increases in gasoline and sales taxes would reduce the potential for creating new jobs at the very time the federal government is reducing taxes to boost the economy," he points out.

Construction costs are advancing about 3 per cent a year but "bond interest costs are not that much and we get the facilities now," Krabach explains, Current average bond interest is 2.7 per cent, figures show.

With the $290 million dollar bond issue, the total authorized by voters during the Rhodes administration stands at $1.04 billion. Included is a $250 million issue of 1963 for improvements and a $500 million issue last year.

A $500 million major throughfare bond issue was authorized in 1953 and a $150 million capital improvements issue approved two years later. Of the full amounts issued, $306 million worth of bonds under those two issues are outstanding.

Only $75 million worth of 1963 improvements bonds have been issued and $40 million worth from the 1964 highway improvements issue. None nas been retired.

Of the 1956 Korean Bond issue, about $35 million still are outstanding.

That puts Ohio's total unpaid bond obligation from those five issues at $456 million, State Treasurer John Herbert's office reports.

Krabach says Ohio's total indebtedness under the three bond issues authorized during the Rhodes administration never will reach $1.04 billion because many will be retired before the last bonds are sold.

He estimates that about $60 million worth of bonds from the $290 million improvements issue will be sold annually in coming years.

Ohio plans to market $100 million worth of bonds from the 1963 improvements issue nex year and the balance of $75 million in 1967.

Highway improvement bonds from the 1964 issue will be sold at the rate of about $100 mil lion a year under present plans

Highway bonds will be retired from an extra penny gasoline tax enacted in 1953 and from Ohio's axle-mile tax on big trucks. Capital improvement bonds will be paid off with an extra cent-a-pack cigarette tax enacted for that purpose in 1955 and if necessary with general funds.

Engineers Study Appalachia Role

CINCINNATI (AP)—The U.S. Army Engineers are opening a new office in Cincinnati that will have a vote in the spending of perhaps as much as $1 billion of public funds on Appalachian development.

It's an entirely new undertaking for the engineers.

The Office of Appalachian Studies was set up to make a water resources study under the 1965 Appalachian Regional Redevelopment Act—a task with far-reaching ramifications because of the importance of water in any sort of economic planning.

"We are supposed to make a study and report on the impact of our projects on the local economy," says Col. John C. H. Lee, who heads the office.

"This is something new for us. We do not normally measure new business opportunities, of new jobs, or land enhancement values, or improvements in the tax base that have occurred because of our projects."

The act provides that "the public investments made in the region . . . shall be concentrated in areas where there is significant potential for future growth, and where the expected return on public dollars invested will be the greatest."

Since much of the substance of Army engineers' reports often end up being written into law, the Appalachian office's report—due at the end of 1968—will have a lto to do with the eventual allocation of the funds, although the engineers will be only on eof many federal and state agencies involved.

Col. Lee, a compact man with graying hair who helped to plan the Normandy landings in World War II and served as a division engineer in Korea, sees much of the future of Appalachia as depending on "places of some hope" where investment of public money may pay off.

The $1 billion, he adds, is just "a possible figure. It could be less, or it could be more. We just don't know yet."

"You can't prove that private investment will follow public investment," he said in an interview. "It's always a gamble, but you can work with the business executives and in time you can create interest in expanding into an area, especially by a business that is already thinking of expansion.

"Then, all of a sudden, there is a new industry and new jobs where there weren't any before. The idea is to find jobs for the people in the valleys without having them go off to Detroit."

May 31 Due To Be Tagged As Holiday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because Memorial Day — May 30 —falls on a Sunday this year, most Americans will have their holiday on Monday May 31.

The Post Office Department says there will be no mail deliveries that day. Government offices, for the most part, will be closed.

The AFL-CIO says that unions with holiday clauses in their contracts usually have provisions that specify that when a holiday is on a Sunday, Monday is counted as the holiday. Thus a worker who works Monday would get holiday pay under such a contract, while one who worked on the actual holiday—Sunday—would not.

Domestic stock exchanges and other market will also be closed Monday May 31.

A spokesman for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce said it is his understanding that most business will observe Monday, May 31, as a holiday.

Lake County Sheriff Faces Court Action

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A hearing is set for June 1 in common pleas court for Lake County Sheriff Edwin H. Cunningham on contempt of court charges. County Prosecutor Fred V. Skok filed the charges Friday, claiming the sheriff used two county jail prisoners to help tear down a house he bought.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The "Carousel of Ohio Firsts" has closed after a 14-week stand in the Statehouse rotunda. The midway-type merry - go-round was set up by the state to display products manufactured in Ohio.

The final carousel display exhibited a wide variety of Ohio products. Previous exhibits were put on by manufacturers of tomato juice, rubber products electric refrigerators, ceramics glass and playing cards.

The first barbed wire was introduced about 1873. The first large scale manufacturer was Joseph Glidden of DeKalb, Ill.

Construction Resumes On Lordstown Factory

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Construction is under way again at the multimillion-dollar Chevrolet-Fisher Body plant at Lordstown after a five-day strike by 700 craft union construction workers.

Agreement was reached Friday between the workers and Huber, Hunt & Nichols Co., Indianapolis, the general contractors. Workers' demands for a field hospital, full-time nurse and an ambulance reportedly will be met by the company.

Police Week

LARRY PONTIOUS

EARL WALLACE

LEONARD SINES

EDITOR'S NOTE — National Police Week, observed here and throughout the country since last Sunday, served as a period set aside to remind citizens of the public service provided by all branches of law. All members of the Circleville Police Department have been introduced during the week through a series of articles. Today's final story offers recognition to Patrolmen Larry Pontious, Earl Wallace and Leonard Sines.

Patrolman Pontious, a two-year veteran with the local department, was born Mar. 24, 1941. He has lived in Pickaway County all his life and attended school in Jackson Twp.

The patrolman was appointed a regular officer on Mar. 1, 1963. He has attended the Law Enforcement Officer Training School conducted by the Ohio Trade and Industrial Service and instructional sessions presented by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Neo-Nazis Linked to U.S. Klan

OSLO, Norway (AP) —Newspaper reports in Oslo and Stockholm say neo-Nazi groups operating throughout Scandinavia have links with the Ku Klux Klan in Alabama and Texas.

The Norwegian government organ Arbeiderbladet said today that a Scandinavian group called Nordiski Rikspartiet (Nordic Reich Party) has a "fuehrer" in each of the Nordic countries.

Sweden's largest newspaper, Expressen, said the leader of a recently discovered neo - Nazi action group in Stockholm also held membership in the Klan.

Expressen handed over document and photographs to state and security police. Among them was a picture of a Klan membership card it said bore the signature of "imperial wizard" Sherman Miller of Waco, Tex.

Miller died in Waco about a year and a half ago.

YOUNGEST CASUALTY — Pvt. David M. Soncela, at 17 the youngest U.S. casualty in Santo Domingo, rests in hospital at Fort Bragg, N.C. He is from Greenville, Ill. "It wasn't so bad in Santo Domingo," he said. He's a machine gunner with the 82nd Airborne. He got a flesh wound in a shoulder.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, May 15, the 135th day of 1965. There are 230 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1951, Gen. Omar Bradley told Congress that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's proposals for expanding the war with Red China would involve the United States "in the wrong war, at the wrong place, at the wrong time and with the wrong enemy."

In 1862, Congress established the Department of Agriculture.

In 1918, Army fliers started air mail service between New York and Washington.

In 1942, gasoline rationing began in 17 Eastern states and the District of Columbia.

In 1945, the U.S. Navy announced that American submarines had sunk nine more Japanese ships.

Ten years ago — A treaty of peace with the Republic Austria was signed in Vienna by the foreign ministers of the Big Four powers.

Five years ago Nikita Khrushchev said he would not take part in a summit conference unless the United States ended all U2 flights over the Soviet Union.

One year ago — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller scored a major upset by winning an Oregon presidential primary.

Covington Tax Center To Cost $4,234,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Services Administration has awarded a $4,234,500 contract to Dugan & Meyers Construction Co., Cincinnati, to construct an Internal Revenue Service center at Covington, Ky. The building, to be completed in 20 months, will house IRS data processing operations for a six-state area.

Rhodes 'Elated' as Ohio Voters 'Reverse Economic Down-Spiral'

By REED SITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. James A. Rhodes is elated over voter help in reversing an economic "down spiral."

He feels that primary election approval of a $290 million bond issue for capital improvements and a state industrial loan program assures jobs and progress.

That's the way Finance Director Richard Krabach, administration money manager, describes the current Ohio scene.

Krabach engineered Rhodes' early austerity drive to wipe out an inherited state deficit, reduce the biggest poor relief load in the nation and create 200,000 new jobs — all without new or increased taxes.

Now, with "money in the bank", welfare in hand and the job goal in sight, Rhodes is writing an "up spiral" chapter in Ohio's history book, Krabach asserts.

Rhodes' slogan, "Profit is not a dirty word in Ohio," is quoted nationwide.

When the state of Washington asked how he did it, Rhodes dispatched Krabach to the West Coast a week ago to tell officials how to keep state spending within income and balance the budget.

It isn't easy, Krabach said, but it works like this:

Boosting taxes for more money to treat social ills only leads to "more of the same" and eventually to a down spiral.

By creating jobs, you get self-sufficient taxpayers in place of hand-out dependents and the spiral goes up.

More than two years of tireless spade work as governor went into Rhodes' effort to create a favorable industrial climate with the goal of making Ohio the nation's No. 1 producer

The most recent payoff: A $75 million General Mills plant in Lancaster to serve the east from Maine to Florida, and a new General Motors plant in Lordstown, between Warren and Youngstown, that will employ 5,700 workers.

New highways and Ohio's new tax moratorium were determining factors in locating those plants and others, it was explained.

When the GM Fisher Body plant hits full production, a dozen or more haul - away trucks, each carrying five cars, will take to the highways hourly.

Bond issues made it possible for Ohio to get a fast start on fourlane throughfares and they will do the same for urgently needed facilities in education, recreation and other areas, Krabach asserts.

Rhodes, a Republican, has been the target of increasing attacks by Democrats who claim he is "bonding the state to death". They describe bond financing as far more costly that the pay-as-you-go method.

But Krabach estimates that gasoline taxes would have to be raised three cents a gallon for highways under pay-as-you-go "to get the kind of a program we have now". Another penny boost in the retail sales tax would be needed to put capital improvements on the same basis, he figures.

"Such increases in gasoline and sales taxes would reduce the potential for creating new jobs at the very time the federal government is reducing taxes to boost the economy," he points out.

Construction costs are advancing about 3 per cent a year but "bond interest costs are not that much and we get the facilities now," Krabach explains, Current average bond interest is 2.7 per cent, figures show.

With the $290 million dollar bond issue, the total authorized by voters during the Rhodes administration stands at $1.04 billion. Included is a $250 million issue of 1963 for improvements and a $500 million issue last year.

A $500 million major throughfare bond issue was authorized in 1953 and a $150 million capital improvements issue approved two years later. Of the full amounts issued, $306 million worth of bonds under those two issues are outstanding.

Only $75 million worth of 1963 improvements bonds have been issued and $40 million worth from the 1964 highway improvements issue. None has been retired.

Of the 1956 Korean Bond issue, about $35 million still are outstanding.

That puts Ohio's total unpaid bond obligation from those five issues at $456 million, State Treasurer John Herbert's office reports.

Krabach says Ohio's total indebtedness under the three bond issues authorized during the Rhodes administration never will reach $1.04 billion because many will be retired before the last bonds are sold.

He estimates that about $60 million worth of bonds from the $290 million improvements issue will be sold annually in coming years.

Ohio plans to market $100 million worth of bonds from the 1963 improvements issue nex year and the balance of $75 million in 1967.

Highway improvement bonds from the 1964 issue will be sold at the rate of about $100 million a year under present plans

Highway bonds will be retired from an extra penny gasoline tax enacted in 1953 and from Ohio's axle-mile tax on big trucks. Capital improvement bonds will be paid off with an extra cent-a-pack cigarette tax enacted for that purpose in 1955 and if necessary with general funds.

Engineers Study Appalachia Role

CINCINNATI (AP)—The U.S. Army Engineers are opening a new office in Cincinnati that will have a vote in the spending of perhaps as much as $1 billion of public funds on Appalachian development.

It's an entirely new undertaking for the engineers.

The Office of Appalachian Studies was set up to make a water resources study under the 1965 Appalachian Regional Redevelopment Act—a task with far-reaching ramifications because of the importance of water in any sort of economic planning.

"We are supposed to make a study and report on the impact of our projects on the local economy," says Col. John C. H. Lee, who heads the office.

"This is something new for us. We do not normally measure new business opportunities, of new jobs, or land enhancement values, or improvements in the tax base that have occurred because of our projects."

The act provides that "the public investments made in the region . . . shall be concentrated in areas where there is significant potential for future growth, and where the expected return on public dollars invested will be the greatest."

Since much of the substance of Army engineers' reports often end up being written into law, the Appalachian office's report—due at the end of 1968—will have a lto to do with the eventual allocation of the funds, although the engineers will be only on eof many federal and state agencies involved.

Col. Lee, a compact man with graying hair who helped to plan the Normandy landings in World War II and served as a division engineer in Korea, sees much of the future of Appalachia as depending on "places of some hope" where investment of public money may pay off.

The $1 billion, he adds, is just "a possible figure. It could be less, or it could be more. We just don't know yet."

"You can't prove that private investment will follow public investment," he said in an interview. "It's always a gamble, but you can work with the business executives and in time you can create interest in expanding into an area, especially by a business that is already thinking of expansion.

"Then, all of a sudden, there is a new industry and new jobs where there weren't any before. The idea is to find jobs for the people in the valleys without having them go off to Detroit."

New Ohio Magazine Is Now Off Presses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The June issue of the "Wonderful World of Ohio" magazine, a color publication of the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, is on its way to the newstands.

Aimed at stimulating both interstate and intra-state tourist trade in Ohio, the monthly magazine is the successor to the former Ohio Conservation Bulletin. It sells for 50 cents a copy or $3 per year for a subscription.

Construction Resumes On Lordstown Factory

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Construction is under way again at the multimillion-dollar Chevrolet-Fisher Body plant at Lordstown after a five-day strike by 700 craft union construction workers.

Agreement was reached Friday between the workers and Huber, Hunt & Nichols Co., Indianapolis, the general contractors. Workers' demands for a field hospital, full-time nurse and an ambulance reportedly will be met by the company.

May 31 Due To Be Tagged As Holiday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because Memorial Day — May 30 —falls on a Sunday this year, most Americans will have their holiday on Monday May 31.

The Post Office Department says there will be no mail deliveries that day. Government offices, for the most part, will be closed.

The AFL-CIO says that unions with holiday clauses in their contracts usually have provisions that specify that when a holiday is on a Sunday, Monday is counted as the holiday. Thus a worker who works Monday would get holiday pay under such a contract, while one who worked on the actual holiday—Sunday—would not.

Domestic stock exchanges ana other market will also be closed Monday May 31.

A spokesman for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce said it is his understanding that most business will observe Monday, May 31, as a holiday.

Lake County Sheriff Faces Court Action

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A hearing is set for June 1 in common pleas court for Lake County Sheriff Edwin H. Cunningham on contempt of court charges. County Prosecutor Fred V. Skok filed the charges Friday, claiming the sheriff used two county jail prisoners to help tear down a house he bought

Statehouse Rotunda Loses Its Carousel

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The "Carousel of Ohio Firsts" has closed after a 14-week stand in the Statehouse rotunda. The midway-type merry - go-round was set up by the state to display products manufactured in Ohio.

The final carousel display exhibited a wide variety of Ohio products. Previous exhibits were put on by manufacturers of tomato juice, rubber products electric refrigerators, ceramics glass and playing cards.

The first barbed wire was introduced about 1873. The first large scale manufacturer was Joseph Glidden of DeKalb, Ill.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

He Needs Help!

DEAR ABBY: The problem is my wife. She is very "coldnatured," if you know what I mean. She stays up until all hours of the night doing dishes, cleaning house, canning, mending -doing just about everything she can think of -and when she figures I am asleep she will come to bed. On other occasions she'll rush to bed when I am taking a shower, and pretend to be asleep when I get there. Other than this she is a very good wife. Tell me how to cope with this hunk of ice. I am not the type to look at another woman while married. Don't tell me to see my clergyman or a marriage counselor as I don't care to discuss this with anyone. I am not bad looking, I am clean, and there is nothing wrong with me. If there is something I can do on my own, tell me.

KANSAS CITIAN

DEAR KANSAS CITIAN: There may be nothing wrong with YOU, but there may be something wrong about your wife's attitude about the physical side of marriage. Both you and she should ask your family doctor to help you resolve this question. If it's to be solved, it must be discussed candidly. P.S. Ice will melt under the proper conditions.

DEAR ABBY: My mother who has been a widow for almost 20 years, has had her brother living with her for the past year. He is a bachelor of 64 and has money to burn. My mother wrote that he is getting on her nerves and she wishes one of us would invite him to visit us, and maybe fix him up with a nice woman so she could get him off her hands. He is not bad looking, but he is a first-class pain-in-the-neck. He isn't really tight, and could have any kind of house or apartment he wanted, but he prefers to live with a relative so he'll have someone to talk to. We don't want him staying with us because we could never get rid of him. What do we do now?

PIEDMONT

DEAR PIEDMONT: Don't invite him if you don't want him. And a man who has "money to burn, "can usually find his own match.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I married a man I knew a very short time. It was the biggest mistake of my life. I could write a book about what happened, but it's so fantastic nobody would believe it. I became pregnant immediately, and five weeks before my baby was born I left my husband. I was told I was entitled to an annulment, but the red tape was getting me down so, on the advice of my attorney, I filed for divorce. I was moved away from my home town, where this all took place. My problem: Here I am, an unmarried woman with a small child in a strange city. No one believes I was ever married. I have been told, in a nice way, to quit telling that "story." How can I prove I was married? I refuse to carry a photostat of my divorce around!

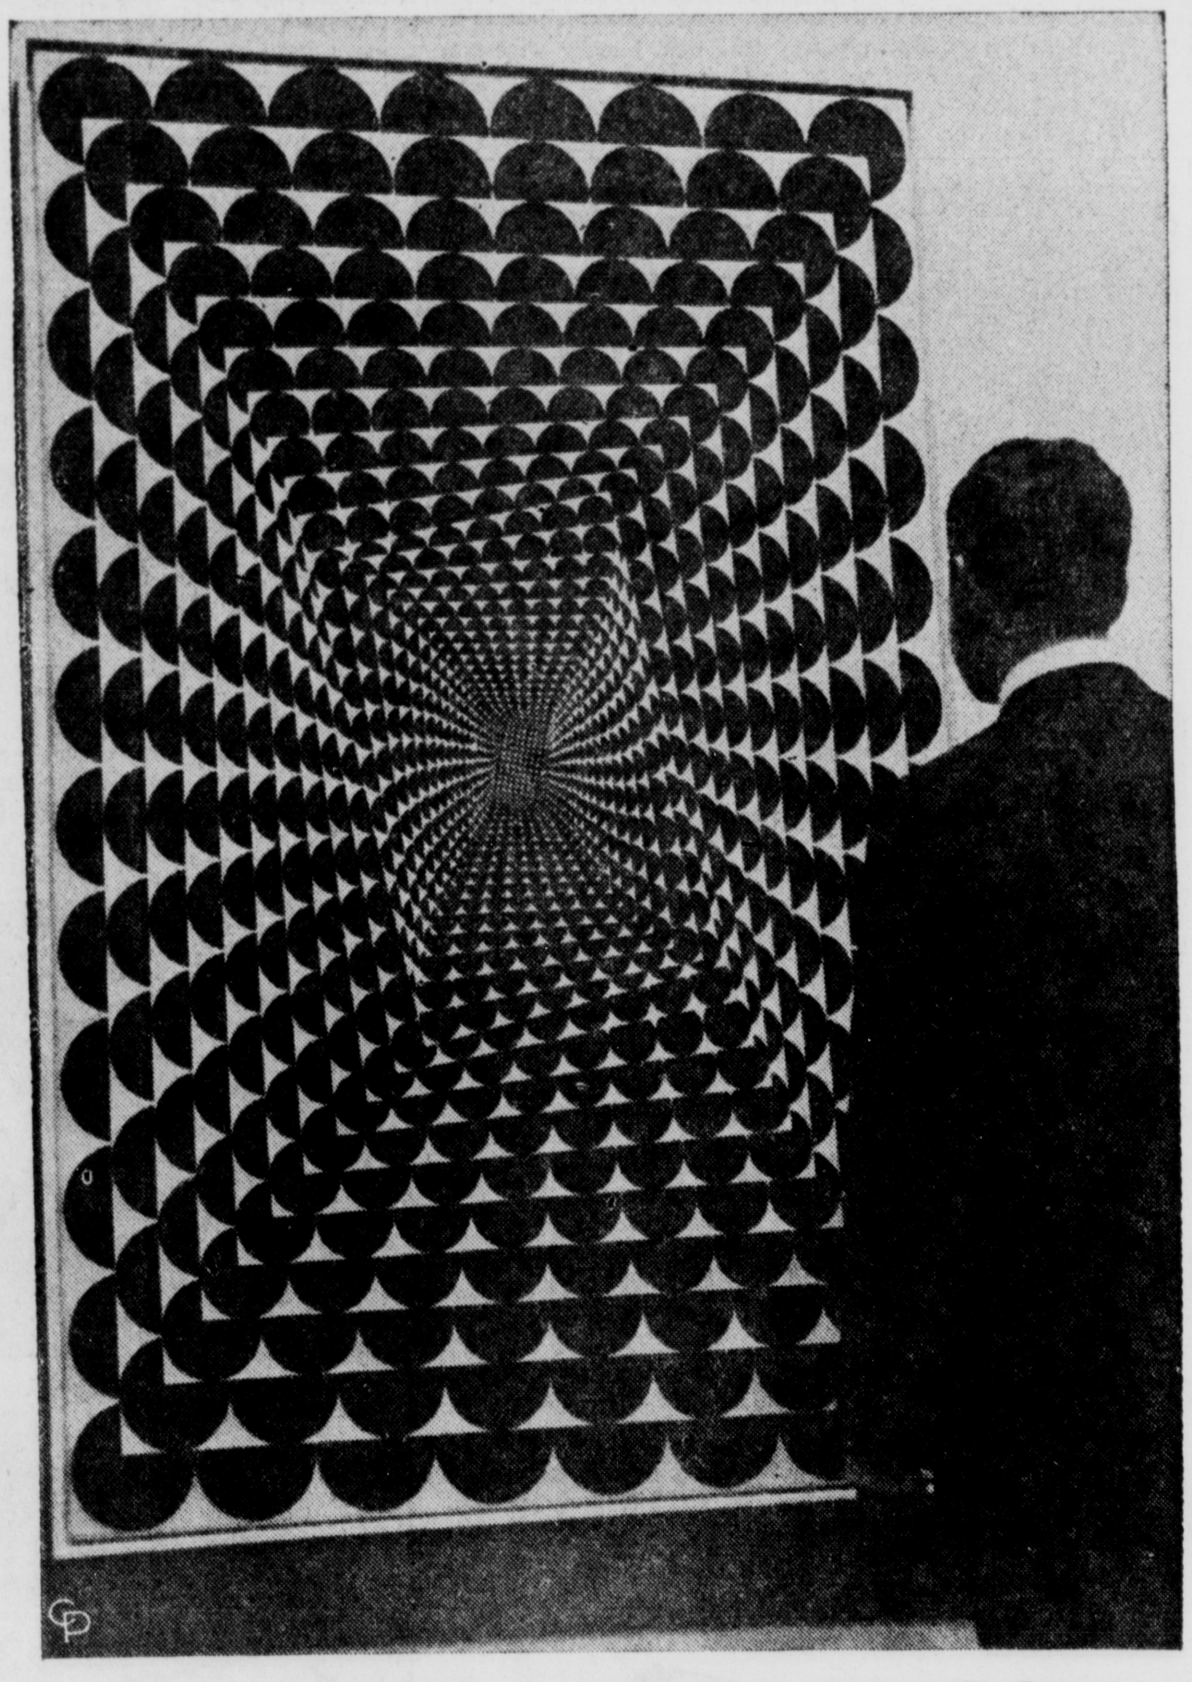
HURT AND ANGRY

DEAR HURT: People who don't need "proof" -and people who need proof don't matter.

DEAR ABBY: This morning I was going through my husband's wallet, and I came across a piece of paper and on it was written a list of ladies' sizes for everything from coats, dresses, gloves, hosiery to bras. It was "signed" with a lipstick imprint, "From your Honey.' What does this mean?

ARLINGTON

DEAR ARLINGTON: It probably means that you can't trust your husband, and somebody else can't trust your husband's memory. (At least you know the vital statistics of your competition.)



ANYONE NEED EYE STRAIN?—This is one of the optical art exhibits at "The Responsive Eye" show in New York's Museum of Modern Art. Well, is it optical enough for you?

Union Guild Welcomes New Member

Mrs. Marjorie Morrison was welcomed as a new member when Unoin Guild met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Lawrence Goodman, Route 1, Groveport. Mrs. Gloria McGarvey was assisting hostess.

Mrs. Wayne Fee presided during the business session. Mrs. Helen Newlon led devotions. A short memorial service was given by Mrs. Lillie Baird in memory of two deceased members, Mrs. Dora Hunt and Mrs. Rosa Carle.

The group voted to send a six-month subscription of The Herald to William Pontious, a serviceman in Heielburg, Germany. Flowers were sent to Miss Addie Hill, a shut-in at Hoover's Rest Home, Urbana.

For the program readings were presented by Edna Immell, Pauline Schooley and Helen Newlon. Mystery sister gifts were received by Marvene Dudleson, Gladys Russell and Edith Linton.

Refreshments were served to 14 members and one guest, Mrs. Thomas Fuller.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Henry Streitenberger, Highland Ave. Mrs. Lillie Baird will be co-hostess.

Nowhere Do Men Toil As Do Rickshaw Men

EDITOR'S NOTE — Charles Lynch, chief of news service for the Southam Newspapers of Canada, is on assignment to Communist China. This is one of the dispatches filed to his newspapers.

By CHARLES LYNCH

HARBIN, Manchuria (AP) — In a Communist society, everything has its rationale, including the use of human toil for jobs that are performed in other societies by animals or machines.

People put their shoulders to the wheel in the literal sense — and if you think you know what that means go out and put your shoulder to a wheel and push until you can push no more. Then keep pushing.

Peking is the showplace of China, so the use of human labor there is modified to the extent that the main vehicles for carrying freight in and around the city are three-wheeled cycles. The sole propellant is human energy, but it is aided by sprockets on the level and by brakes on the downgrade. On the upgrade, the drivers get off, put their heads down, and push, sometimes getting some help from bystanders. Peking is mercifully flat.

The loads, ranging from vegetables to big rocks, from pig iron to heavy machinery, are unbelievable. If there is a load that would tax a 10-ton truck, they call up a hundred or so cycle-rickshaws, divide the freight and off they go.

The wondering Westerner is told that these human beasts of burden are heroes of the revolution. That they are as proud as one is told, is doubtful.

Outside Peking, it is a somewhat difrerent story. In the industrial cities of Shenyang, Changchun and Harbin, you encounter rickshaws in the old-fashioned sense —two-wheeled vehicles with shaft in front, and the rickshaw puller is on foot.

Here, too, the loads are prodigious — and going downhill is just as hard as going up, because the braking is all done by human energy. Sometimes the rickshaw men bring their children along to help.

On the hills of Barin, the rickshaw men line up at the bottom and help one another up the hill, four or five men to a rickshaw. Getting downhill is almost as tough. A runaway load would be a disaster to all concerned, including the pedestrians who normally do not give the rickshaw men a glance or a thought.

There is nothing new about rickshaws in China, but it is hard to reconcile their abundant use with the claims of the revolution — the ones dealing with human dignity and an end to exploitation.

Nowhere in the world do human beings toil as do the rickshaw men of China — and to argue that this is elevating toil of a kind that is good for the soul is to argue something that the Western mind cannot accept.

The faces of the rickshaw men tell their own story, and I imagine that statistics on their working span would tell a story, too, if they were available. The head bowed in back-straining toil is a moving thing to see, but the emotions it engenders are not emotions of understanding, much less admiration.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

He Needs Help!

DEAR ABBY: The problem is my wife. She is very "cold-natured," if you know what I mean. She stays up until all hours of the night doing dishes, cleaning house, canning, mending -doing just about everything she can think of -and when she figures I am asleep she will come to bed. On other occasions she'll rush to bed when I am taking a shower, and pretend to be asleep when I get there. Other than this she is a very good wife. Tell me how to cope with this hunk of ice. I am not the type to look at another woman while married. Don't tell me to see my clergyman or a marriage counselor as I don't care to discuss this with anyone. I am not bad looking, I am clean, and there is nothing wrong with me. If there is something I can do on my own, tell me.

KANSAS CITIAN

DEAR KANSAS CITIAN: There may be nothing wrong with YOU, but there may be something wrong about your wife's attitude about the physical side of marriage. Both you and she should ask your family doctor to help you resolve this question. If it's to be solved, it must be discussed candidly. P.S. Ice will melt under the proper conditions.

DEAR ABBY: My mother who has been a widow for almost 20 years, has had her brother living with her for the past year. He is a bachelor of 64 and has money to burn. My mother wrote that he is getting on her nerves and she wishes one of us would invite him to visit us, and maybe fix him up with a nice woman so she could get him off her hands. He is not bad looking, but he is a first-class pain-in-the-neck. He isn't really tight, and could have any kind of house or apartment he wanted, but he prefers to live with a relative so he'll have someone to talk to. We don't want him staying with us because we could never get rid of him. What do we do now?

PIEDMONT

DEAR PIEDMONT: Don't invite him if you don't want him. And a man who has "money to burn, "can usually find his own match.

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I married a man I knew a very short time. It was the biggest mistake of my life. I could write a book about what happened, but it's so fantastic nobody would believe it. I became pregnant immediately, and five weeks before my baby was born I left my husband. I was told I was entitled to an annulment, but the red tape was getting me down so, on the advice of my attorney, I filed for divorce. I was moved away from my home town, where this all took place. My problem: Here I am, an unmarried woman with a small child in a strange city. No one believes I was ever married. I have been told, in a nice way, to quit telling that "story." How can I prove I was married? I refuse to carry a photostat of my divorce around!

HURT AND ANGRY

DEAR HURT: People who don't need "proof" -and people who need proof don't matter.

DEAR ABBY: This morning I was going through my husband's wallet, and I came across a piece of paper and on it was written a list of ladies' sizes for everything from coats, dresses, gloves, hosiery to bras. It was "signed" with a lipstick imprint, "From your Honey.' What does this mean?

ARLINGTON

DEAR ARLINGTON: It probably means that you can't trust your husband, and somebody else can't trust your husband's memory. (At least you know the vital statistics of your competition.)

Union Guild Welcomes New Member

Mrs. Marjorie Morrison was welcomed as a new member when Unoin Guild met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Lawrence Goodman, Route 1, Groveport. Mrs. Gloria McGarvey was assisting hostess.

Mrs. Wayne Fee presided during the business session. Mrs. Helen Newlon led devotions. A short memorial service was given by Mrs. Lillie Baird in memory of two deceased members, Mrs. Dora Hunt and Mrs. Rosa Carle.

The group voted to send a six-month subscription of The Herald to William Pontious, a serviceman in Heielburg, Germany. Flowers were sent to Miss Addie Hill, a shut-in at Hoover's Rest Home, Urbana.

For the program readings were presented by Edna Immell, Pauline Schooley and Helen Newlon. Mystery sister gifts were received by Marvene Dudleson, Gladys Russell and Edith Linton.

Refreshments were served to 14 members and one guest, Mrs. Thomas Fuller.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Henry Streitenberger, Highland Ave. Mrs. Lillie Baird will be co-hostess.

EUB Class To Meet

The Willing Workers Class of Pontious EUB Church will meet 2 p. m. Thursday in the home of Edwina Holderman, Route 4.

When you are serving stuffed celery as an hors d'oeuvre, have a plate of unfilled celery wedges on hand for those diet watchers.

Nowhere Do Men Toil As Do Rickshaw Men

EDITOR'S NOTE — Charles Lynch, chief of news service for the Southam Newspapers of Canada, is on assignment to Communist China. This is one of the dispatches filed to his newspapers.

By CHARLES LYNCH

HARBIN, Manchuria (AP) — In a Communist society, everything has its rationale, including the use of human toil for jobs that are performed in other societies by animals or machines.

People put their shoulders to the wheel in the literal sense — and if you think you know what that means go out and put your shoulder to a wheel and push until you can push no more. Then keep pushing.

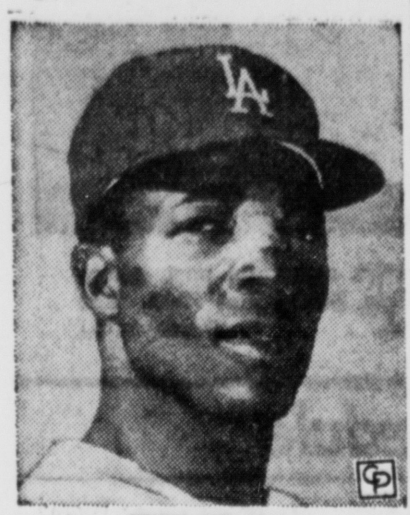
Speedy Willie Davis Is Just Too Speedy

He Zips Past Mate on Base; Bums Lose Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Boy, that Willie Davis is fast.

So fast, in fact, that he spoiled a sixth inning rally by buzzing past a teammate on the bases and helped the Chicago Cubs hold on to a 2-1 victory over his Los Angeles Dodgers Friday night.



Willie Davis

The Cubs led 2-0 in the sixth when a couple of errors suddenly brought the Dodgers close. Maury Wills reached base with one out on a muff by Ernie Banks and raced around to third on a single by Wes Parker.

Davis, acknowledged as one of the fastest men in the majors, then lofted a shallow fly to Don Landrum, who dropped the ball. Wills sped home and Davis careened around first so fast that he dashed right past Parker and into an automatic out.

Ron Fairly then ended the threat by grounding out.

In other National League action, San Francisco edged Houston 2-1 on Jim Hart's ninth inning homer, Dick Stuart's homer triggered Philadelphia to a 5-2 victory over Milwaukee, St. Louis outlasted Pittsburgh 8-7 and the New York Mets defeated Cincinnati 5-3.

In the American League, Detroit outslugged Boston 12-8 in 10 innings, the New York Yankees walloped Baltimore 9-3, the Chicago White Sox nipped the Los Angeles Angels 2-1, Minnesota downed Kansas City 5-3 and Cleveland beat Washington 2-1.

The Cubs scored their first run in the second inning on an error by Dick Tracewski, two wild pitches by Dodger starter John Purdin and Doug Clemens' sacifice fly. Ron Santo supplied the eventual winning run with his sixth homer, a solo shot in the sixth inning.

Bob Buhl, who allowed only three hits, still needed ninth inning relief help from Ted Abernathy before gaining his fourth victory against two losses.

Hart's homer, a leadoff shot in the ninth, broke up a duel between Gaylord Perry an dthe Astros' Ken Johnson Perry checked Houston on four hits while Johnson kept eight Giants hits scattered until Hart slammed his game-winner.

Singles by Bob Aspromonte and Eddie Kasko around a walk produced the Houson run in the second inning. The Giants tied it in the sixth when Willie McCovey doubled, moved to third on Willie Mays' bunt single and scored as Hart hit into a double play.

Stuart triggered a three-run rally that proved enough for the Phillies, collecting the first hit off Billy O'Dell with a leadoff homer in the fifth inning. Singles by Tony Taylor, Alex Johnson, Gus Triandos and Bobby Wine produced the other two runs.

Art Mahaffey won his second without a loss, by holding the Braves to five hits while striking out 10.

The Cardinals came from behind to beat the Pirates with two ninth inning runs on a walk to Ken Boyer, Dick Groat's triple and Bill White's third single.

The Pirates had taken a 7-6 lead in the sixth inning when Donn Clendenon and Jim Pagliaroni each stroked two-run singles. Clendenon also hit a two-run homer.

Solo homers by Johnny Lewis and Charlie Smith got the Mets by the Reds. Lewis' homer, off Joey Jay, tied the game 3-3 in the fifth, then Smith put New York ahead to stay with a sixth inning shot off Joe Nuxhall.

Al Jackson, rocked for Tommy Harper's three-run homer in the third inning, settled down after that and brought his record to 4-2 with a six-hitter.

Babe Ruth Loop Rosters Listed in Baseball Program

The completion of the rosters for the two Babe Ruth leagues in the Circleville Youth baseball program has been announced by Paul Mayberry, vice president of the division.

In a move adopted by the board of directors, 16-year old yongsters are eligible to compete in the league this year. The step was designed to add strength and numbers to the older division of the program.

Although nearly all of the Babe Ruth teams are near the prescribed 15 player limit recommended by the program directors, Mayberry noted there is still room for late registrants.

Anybody registering now will be placed on a team by Mayberry.

* * *

THE Babe Ruth vice president emphasized that two managers are still needed. Neither Kochheiser Hardware nor the VFW team have adult supervisors yet.

These two teams are in the minor division and are made up of youths 13 and 14 years of age. Any adult wishing to take part in the program by managing a team during the summer may contact Mayberry. His phone number is GR 4-3776.

Here are the current rosters of both divisions of the Babe Ruth Leagues:

Junior High 2nd in Meet

In a dual meet at Southeastern yesterday, the Circleville Junior High track team came out on the short end of a 63-46 score.

Highlight of the afternoon was another record-breaking performance in the shot put by Don Cordle. Cordle topped his old personal record with all three of his tosses to finish with 49-feet 10½ - inch effort.

Bruce Liston finished second in the shot put, won the 220-yard dash and took second in the broad jump. Jim Samuel won the pole vault, took second in the 100-yard dash and third in the high jump. Ricky Sims won the 120-yard low hurdles and took third in the 50-yard dash. Melvin Smith took the 880-yard run and was third in the 440-yard dash.

Richard Lovenshimer took second in the 220, Mike Kaylor third in the 100-yard dash, Eddie Wells third in the hurdles, and Dale Byrd and Jack Boyer finished second and third in the discus.

The Circleville Junior High team will complete their season Tuesday when they travel to Lancaster General Sherman. Sherman was the winner of the Greenfield Relays.

Mustangs Lose SVC Tilt

Westfall was defeated, 10-7, yesterday in a Scioto Valley Conference baseball game at Unioto.

The loss left the Mustangs with a 1-1 mark in conference play and a 10-5 record overall. It was the first league win for Unioto.

After taking a 5-1 lead in the second inning, the Mustangs saw the host school tally five counters to go on top.

An additional two runs in the fourth inning provided a margin for the winners Westfall was not able to overcome.

* * *

STOUT was the winning pitcher, fanning 10 and walking four.

Danny Bowen was charged with the loss. He fanned seven and walked four in the tilt.

The next action for the Mustangs is Monday when Centralia will provide the competition. A game originally scheduled Tuesday with Miami Trace has been postponed.

Westfall's two remaining Scioto Valley Conference games with Paint Valley and Piketon have been slated May 20 and 22 respectively. Both games are on the Westfall diamond.

Local Pacer Still Eligible for Stakes

Marietta Callihan's Chita Star is staked to the Challenge Stakes Number Four, pacing division, scheduled at Scioto Downs July 23.

The Circleville owned pacer will be going for an estimated purse of $8,500. There were sustaining payments made for 120 two - year - old pacers to keep them eligible for the Challenge Stakes Number Four.

TV Youth League Slates Donkey Game

The donkey baseball game sponsored by the Teays Valley Youth Baseball League will be held at Teays Valley High School, 8 p. m. May 29.

Proceeds go towards the purchase of equipment.

Next meeting of The Teays Valley Youth Baseball League will be 8 p. m. May 26 at the Ashville Council House.

Big Jack Clowns, Holds Tourney Lead

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — It's the new look these days on the fairways for big Jack Nicklaus. The Masters champ is clowning and cutting up to the delight of huge galleries.

There's no change in his phenomenal golf game, however, and he starts today's third round of the $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open with a two-stroke bulge over a quartet of eager, victory-hungry youngsters.

Jack sank birdie putts on three of his last five holes Friday for a three-under-par 69 on the 7,020-yard Lakewood Country Club layout.

Coupled with his course record 65 from the first round, it gave him a 134 going into the final 36 holes.

Through his first nine holes — he played the backside first — the birdies were as elusive as they had been easy the previous day. He carded a five-under 31 on the back nine in the opening round, but had to settle for a 36 Friday.

After 13 straight pars, his sticks began clicking and on the 530-yard No. 5 hole — Nicklaus' 14th — he wedged to within eight feet of the pin and putted in for his first birdie.

After Nicklaus at 136 came Homero Blancas, Bill Martindale, Sam Carmichael and Ray Floyd.

Vikings Trip Hamilton, 6-4, In SSL Tilt

The Teays Valley Vikings defeated Hamilton Twp., 6-4, yesterday on the Viking diamond to pick up their fifth win of the season and first in South Suburban League play.

Charles Griffey was the winning hurler. Dave Parent was cnarged with the loss.

Pacing the Viking effort was Rick Pickering, who tagged two doubles and a triple. He drove in two runs and scored three times.

The Teays Valley team collected nine hits and committed only one error.

* * *

THE eight hits for Hamilton were effectively scattered by Griffey.

The visiting Hamilton team led off with two runs in the first inning. But the Vikings came back with two and scored three more in the second to take a lead they never relinquished.

Tuesday the Vikings host Whitehall in a game scheduled at 7:30 p. m.

Four colts that ran in the Flamingo at Hialeah in early March went to the post in the Kentucky Derby. They were Native Charger, Hail to All, Dapper Dan and Narushua.

Sudden Sam Turns in Full Game

WASHINGTON (AP)—Southpaw McDowell turned in a masterful five-hitter and gave Cleveland's overworked relief corps a rest as he tamed the Washington Senators 2-1 Friday night.

Before coming here, the Indians had used 14 pitchers in three games in a futile attempt to halt the Baltimore Orioles.

But Sudden Sam (2-2) didn't need any help, turning in his first complete game and the fifth for the Tribe pitching staff this year.

The Senators put a double and a single together for a run in the third, but McDowell held them to two hits the rest of the way.

He struck out 12 and walked only two.

McDowell slipped from the mound in the eighth and seemed to twist his leg. That was while pitching to Joe Cunningham, who wound up with a single.

Then, when the count went to 3 and 1 on pinch-hitter Don Zimmer, the relief crew went to work in the bullpen. But McDowell got one across for a called strike, then struck Zimmer out on an off-speed curve ball that had the veteran swinging futilely.

Columbus-Toledo Rivalry Resumes

The Columbus Jets have tak-The Columbus Jets have taken the first round in an International League rivalry resumed after a lapse of 81 years.

Way back in 1884 Columbus and Toledo battled not only for the league championship, but also to determine which was the best minor league team in Ohio. They havs been rivals since, in the American Association for several years, but their game Friday night was the first in the International League in modern times.

Columbus won 3-0 behind the five-hit hurling of left-hander Frank Bork. Sent down by the parent Pittsburgh Pirates last month, Bork won his first game.

Ron Perranoski of the Dodgers holds the Michigan State career record for most innings pitched. Between the 1956-58 seasons he worked a total of 213 2-3 innings.

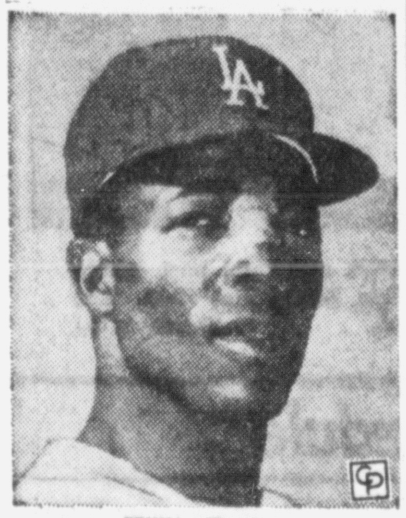
Speedy Willie Davis Is Just Too Speedy

He Zips Past Mate on Base; Bums Lose Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Boy, that Willie Davis is fast. So fast, in fact, that he spoiled a sixth inning rally by buzzing past a teammate on the bases and helped the Chicago Cubs hold on to a 2-1 victory over his Los Angeles Dodgers Friday night.



Willie Davis

The Cubs led 2-0 in the sixth when a couple of errors suddenly brought the Dodgers close. Maury Wills reached base with one out on a muff by Ernie Banks and raced around to third on a single by Wes Parker.

Davis, acknowledged as one of the fastest men in the majors, then lofted a shallow fly to Don Landrum, who dropped the ball. Wills sped home and Davis careened around first so fast that he dashed right past Parker and into an automatic out.

Ron Fairly then ended the threat by grounding out.

In other National League action, San Francisco edged Houston 2-1 on Jim Hart's ninth inning homer, Dick Stuart's homer triggered Philadelphia to a 5-2 victory over Milwaukee, St. Louis outlasted Pittsburgh 8-7 and the New York Mets defeated Cincinnati 5-3.

In the American League, Detroit outslugged Boston 12-8 in 10 innings, the New York Yankees walloped Baltimore 9-3, the Chicago White Sox nipped the Los Angeles Angels 2-1, Minnesota downed Kansas City 5-3 and Cleveland beat Washington 2-1.

The Cubs scored their first run in the second inning on an error by Dick Tracewski, two wild pitches by Dodger starter John Purdin and Doug Clemens' sacifice fly. Ron Santo supplied the eventual winning run with his sixth homer, a solo shot in the sixth inning.

Bob Buhl, who allowed only three hits, still needed ninth inning relief help from Ted Abernathy before gaining his fourth victory against two losses.

Hart's homer, a leadoff shot in the ninth, broke up a duel between Gaylord Perry an dthe Astros' Ken Johnson Perry checked Houston on four hits while Johnson kept eight Giants hits scattered until Hart slammed his game-winner.

Singles by Bob Aspromonte and Eddie Kasko around a walk produced the Houson run in the second inning. The Giants tied it in the sixth when Willie McCovey doubled, moved to third on Willie Mays' bunt single and scored as Hart hit into a double play.

Stuart triggered a three-run rally that proved enough for the Phillies, collecting the first hit off Billy O'Dell with a leadoff homer in the fifth inning. Singles by Tony Taylor, Alex Johnson, Gus Triandos and Bobby Wine produced the other two runs.

Art Mahaffey won his second without a loss, by holding the Braves to five hits while striking out 10.

The Cardinals came from behind to beat the Pirates with two ninth inning runs on a walk to Ken Boyer, Dick Groat's triple and Bill White's third single.

The Pirates had taken a 7-6 lead in the sixth inning when Donn Clendenon and Jim Pagliaroni each stroked two-run singles. Clendenon also hit a two-run homer.

Solo homers by Johnny Lewis and Charlie Smith got the Mets by the Reds. Lewis' homer, off Joey Jay, tied the game 3-3 in the fifth, then Smith put New York ahead to stay with a sixth inning shot off Joe Nuxhall.

Al Jackson, rocked for Tommy Harper's three-run homer in the third inning, settled down after that and brought his record to 4-2 with a six-hitter.

Babe Ruth Loop Rosters Listed in Baseball Program

The completion of the rosters for the two Babe Ruth leagues in the Circleville Youth baseball program has been announced by Paul Mayberry, vice president of the division.

In a move adopted by the board of directors, 16-year old yongsters are eligible to compete in the league this year. The step was designed to add strength and numbers to the older division of the program.

Although nearly all of the Babe Ruth teams are near the prescribed 15 player limit recommended by the program directors, Mayberry noted there is still room for late registrants.

Anybody registering now will be placed on a team by Mayberry.

* * *

THE Babe Ruth vice president emphasized that two managers are still needed. Neither Kochheiser Hardware nor the VFW team have adult supervisors yet.

These two teams are in the minor division and are made up of youths 13 and 14 years of age. Any adult wishing to take part in the program by managing a team during the summer may contact Mayberry. His phone number is GR 4-3776.

Here are the current rosters of both divisions of the Babe Ruth Leagues:

Junior High 2nd in Meet

In a dual meet at Southeastern yesterday, the Circleville Junior High track team came out on the short end of a 63-46 score.

Highlight of the afternoon was another record-breaking performance in the shot put by Don Cordle. Cordle topped his old personal record with all three of his tosses to finish with 49-feet 10½ - inch effort.

Bruce Liston finished second in the shot put, won the 220-yard dash and took second in the broad jump. Jim Samuel won the pole vault, took second in the 100-yard dash and third in the high jump. Ricky Sims won the 120-yard low hurdles and took third in the 50-yarl dash. Melvin Smith took the 880-yard run and was third in the 440-yard dash.

Richard Lovenshimer took second in the 220, Mike Kaylor third in the 100-yard dash, Eddie Wells third in the hurdles, and Dale Byrd and Jack Boyer finished second and third in the discus.

The Circleville Junior High team will complete their season Tuesday when they travel to Lancaster General Sherman. Sherman was the winner of the Greenfield Relays.

Mustangs Lose SVC Tilt

Westfall was defeated, 10-7, yesterday in a Scioto Valley Conference baseball game at Unioto.

The loss left the Mustangs with a 1-1 mark in conference play and a 10-5 record overall. It was the first league win for Unioto.

After taking a 5-1 lead in the second inning, the Mustangs saw the host school tally five counters to go on top.

An additional two runs in the fourth inning provided a margin for the winners Westfall was not able to overcome.

* * *

STOUT was the winning pitcher, fanning 10 and walking four.

Danny Bowen was charged with the loss. He fanned seven and walked four in the tilt.

The next action for the Mustangs is Monday when Centralia will provide the competition. A game originally scheduled Tuesday with Miami Trace has been postponed.

Westfall's two remaining Scioto Valley Conference games with Paint Valley and Piketon have been slated May 20 and 22 respectively. Both games are on the Westfall diamond.

Local Pacer Still Eligible for Stakes

Marietta Callihan's Chita Star is staked to the Challenge Stakes Number Four, pacing division, scheduled at Scioto Downs July 23.

The Circleville owned pacer will be going for an estimated purse of $8,500. There were sustaining payments made for 120 two - year - old pacers to keep them eligible for the Challenge Stakes Number Four.

TV Youth League Slates Donkey Game

The donkey baseball game sponsored by the Teays Valley Youth Baseball League will be held at Teays Valley High School, 8 p. m. May 29.

Proceeds go towards the purchase of equipment.

Next meeting of The Teays Valley Youth Baseball League will be 8 p. m. May 26 at the Ashville Council House.

Big Jack Clowns, Holds Tourney Lead

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — It's the new look these days on the fairways for big Jack Nicklaus. The Masters champ is clowning and cutting up to the delight of huge galleries.

There's no change in his phenomenal golf game, however, and he starts today's third round of the $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open with a two-stroke bulge over a quartet of eager, victory-hungry youngsters.

Jack sank birdie putts on three of his last five holes Friday for a three-under-par 69 on the 7,020-yard Lakewood Country Club layout.

Coupled with his course record 65 from the first round, it gave him a 134 going into the final 36 holes.

Through his first nine holes — he played the backside first — the birdies were as elusive as they had been easy the previous day. He carded a five-under 31 on the back nine in the opening round, but had to settle for a 36 Friday.

After 13 straight pars, his sticks began clicking and on the 530-yard No. 5 hole — Nicklaus' 14th — he wedged to within eight feet of the pin and putted in for his first birdie.

After Nicklaus at 136 came Homero Blancas, Bill Martindale, Sam Carmichael and Ray Floyd.

Vikings Trip Hamilton, 6-4, In SSL Tilt

The Teays Valley Vikings defeated Hamilton Twp., 6-4, yesterday on the Viking diamond to pick up their fifth win of the season and first in South Suburban League play.

Charles Griffey was the winning hurler. Dave Parent was charged with the loss.

Pacing the Viking effort was Rick Pickering, who tagged two doubles and a triple. He drove in two runs and scored three times.

The Teays Valley team collected nine hits and committed only one error.

* * *

THE eight hits for Hamilton were effectively scattered by Griffey.

The visiting Hamilton team led off with two runs in the first inning. But the Vikings came back with two and scored three more in the second to take a lead they never relinquished.

Tuesday the Vikings host Whitehall in a game scheduled at 7:30 p. m.

Four colts that ran in the Flamingo at Hialeah in early March went to the post in the Kentucky Derby. They were Native Charger, Hail to All, Dapper Dan and Narushua.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Steve Allen has television's ideal job—if you like transcontinental commuting.

As he stood waist-deep in his Sherman Oaks swimming pool, Allen told how he jets to New York once every two weeks, tapes two "I've Got a Secret" shows and then comes home in a day or two and spends the next two weeks writing songs or articles.

"I hate to say it," says Steve, "but being the emcee of a panel show is like stealing money.

"I even enjoy the flights because I can do a lot of work on them. I never watch the movies."

Steven says the new setup is a lot easier than his former nightly show—but he enjoyed that too. Steve enjoys whatever he is doing.

Allen is one of the more prolific composers. He estimates that he has composed more than 3,000 songs. Some, like the theme from the movie "Picnic" and "This Could Be the Start of Something Big," have become big hits.

When he is not writing songs, he is studying languages. He and his wife, actress Jayne Meadows, are now studying Chinese.

He also does a lot of reading, mostly on weighty philosophical subjects. He is among the deepest of the comedians.

Few television stars have developed so many other stars as Allen. On his old "Tonight" show, Don Knotts, Tom Poston, Louis Nye, Bill (Jose Jimenez) Dana, Steve Lawrence, Eydie Gorme, Jonathan Winters and others got their first major breaks.

Unlike other top comedians, Allen allowed himself to play straight men for the hilarious antics of the second bananas.

"I used the old Jack Benny theory—let the Knotts and the Nyes play off you. Let them get all the laughs they deserve. And the next day people will say: 'Steve Allen had a good show last night.'

"Everybody helps everybody in this business. I don't claim to have discovered any of these fellows. My only claim is that I was not stupid enough to pass up such talent when I saw it."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Steve Allen has television's ideal job—if you like transcontinental commuting.

As he stood waist-deep in his Sherman Oaks swimming pool, Allen told how he jets to New York once every two weeks, tapes two "I've Got a Secret" shows and then comes home in a day or two and spends the next two weeks writing songs or articles.

"I hate to say it," says Steve, "but being the emcee of a panel show is like stealing money.

"I even enjoy the flights because I can do a lot of work on them. I never watch the movies."

Steven says the new setup is a lot easier than his former nightly show—but he enjoyed that too. Steve enjoys whatever he is doing.

Allen is one of the more prolific composers. He estimates that he has composed more than 3,000 songs. Some, like the theme from the movie "Picnic" and "This Could Be the Start of Something Big," have become big hits.

When he is not writing songs, he is studying languages. He and his wife, actress Jayne Meadows, are now studying Chinese.

He also does a lot of reading, mostly on weighty philosophical subjects. He is among the deepest of the comedians.

Few television stars have developed so many other stars as Allen. On his old "Tonight" show, Don Knotts, Tom Poston, Louis Nye, Bill (Jose Jimenez) Dana, Steve Lawrence, Eydie Gorme, Jonathan Winters and others got their first major breaks.

Unlike other top comedians, Allen allowed himself to play straight men for the hilarious antics of the second bananas.

"I used the old Jack Benny theory—let the Knotts and the Nyes play off you. Let them get all the laughs they deserve. And the next day people will say: 'Steve Allen had a good show last night.'

"Everybody helps everybody in this business. I don't claim to have discovered any of these fellows. My only claim is that I was not stupid enough to pass up such talent when I saw it."

Relievers Fail Reds Second Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Cincinnati Manager Dick Sisler said before Friday night's game he was concerned about his relief pitchers. After the game he had a right to be.

For the second night in a row, the relievers failed. And the New York Mets beat the Reds 5-3 in the first of a four-game series.

"The relief work has been spotty at the best so far this season," Sisler said. "In fact, I'm toying with the idea of using regular starters in relief roles between starts."

Joey Jay started against the Mets and was tagged for eight hits and three runs in 4 1-3 innings. Joe Nuxhall relieved Jay, and gave up the winning run, a homer by Charlie Smith.

Gerry Arrigo pitched the last two innings, permitting the Mets to score an insurance run in the seventh on singles by pitcher Al Jackson and Johnny Lewis, who had hit a homer in the fifth, and a sacrifice bunt.

The Reds didn't have the hitting this time, either.

Jackson held them to six safeties, including Tommy Harper's third home run in the third that accounted for all the Cincinnati tallies. Harper's homer came after a walk to Don Pavletich and Leo Cardenas' single.

After the third, Jackson let only one man get as far as second base as he posted his second victory against four losses.

Ex-Pro Gridder in Unique Trainer Role in Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP) — The fortunes of horse racing placed husky Les Lear, former professional football player, in a unique position for the 90th running of the Preakness at Pimlico today.

But for a broken leg suffered by Sadair last winter he might well have saddled the favorite for the 1 3-16 miles of the second leg of the triple crown for 3-year-olds, which also includes the Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes. Instead he sent out Needles Count, the outsider in the nine-horse field, for the 4:46 p.m. EST start.

"It was like losing a member of your family," said the 260-pound Lear, who when some 35 pounds lighter played in the line for Cleveland, Los Angeles and Detroit in the National Football League and then coached the Calgary Stampeders of the Canadian League for five years.

With nine starters the gross value of the Preakness will be $180,600 with $128,100 going to the winner, $30,000 to second, $501,00 to third and $7,500 to fourth. The deadline for scratching was 4 p.m. with condition calling for a $1,000 starting fee.

With the thermometer hovering near the 85 degree mark, a crowd of 35,000 was expected to pack the ancient racing plant, which was modernized several years ago with the addition of a new clubhouse.

Kentucky Derby winner Lucky Debonair, fully recovered from a minor ankle injury that threatened to keep him out of the race, remained the strong favorite to capture the classic. The West Coast horse hopes to become the ninth horse and the first since Citation in 1948 to win the coveted triple crown.

Lucky's chief opposition figured to come from little Tom Rolfe, third in the Derby, with the fleet Flag Raiser also presented a major problem. Willie Shoemaker, aboard Lucky Debonair, let Flag Raiser set the pace for one mile of the 1¼ miles of the Derby, then took the lead and held off Dapper Dan's mighty finish for a neck decision.

Lucky Debonair's other well regarded rivals included Dapper Dan, who lost some support with a slow workout this week; Native Charger, the big winner in Florida last winter and Hail To All. Swift Ruler, and Selari round out the field.

Patterson Wins With Quickie KO

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — A happy Floyd Patterson prepared today to start a Sweden exhibition tour Sunday in the wake of his quick knockout of Tod Herring.

Patterson, the former world heavyweight champion from New York, stopped his unranked opponent from Houston in the third round Friday night for his fifth straight victory since he lost the title to Sonny Liston.

Referee Teddy Waltham of Great Britain stopped the fight after 40 seconds of the third round. Herring was hanging helpless on the ropes and Waltham said "one more punch from such a hard-hitting fighter as Patterson could have killed him."

Western Hills Eyes Third Baseball Title

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Western Hills, gunning for its third state Class AA high school baseball title, carries a 23-0 record into the regionals. Western beat Cincinnati Withrow 10-1 in a district final Friday and plays 1962 state champ North Bend Taylor, 4-1 victory Friday over Franklin, in a regional semifinal next weekend.

Dick Stuart, now with the Phils, had the eighth best slugging average in the American League last season with .491. He also struck out 130 times.

Relievers Fail Reds Second Time

NEW YORK (AP)—Cincinnati Manager Dick Sisler said before Friday night's game he was concerned about his relief pitchers. After the game he had a right to be.

For the second night in a row, the relievers failed. And the New York Mets beat the Reds 5-3 in the first of a four-game series.

"The relief work has been spotty at the best so far this season," Sisler said. "In fact, I'm toying with the idea of using regular starters in relief roles between starts."

Joey Jay started against the Mets and was tagged for eight hits and three runs in 4 1-3 innings. Joe Nuxhall relieved Jay, and gave up the winning run, a homer by Charlie Smith.

Gerry Arrigo pitched the last two innings, permitting the Mets to score an insurance run in the seventh on singles by pitcher Al Jackson and Johnny Lewis, who had hit a homer in the fifth, and a sacrifice bunt.

The Reds didn't have the hitting this time, either.

Jackson held them to six safeties, including Tommy Harper's third home run in the third that accounted for all the Cincinnati tallies. Harper's homer came after a walk to Don Pavletich and Leo Cardenas' single.

After the third, Jackson let only one man get as far as second base as he posted his second victory against four losses.

Ex-Pro Gridder in Unique Trainer Role in Preakness

BALTIMORE (AP) — The fortunes of horse racing placed husky Les Lear, former professional football player, in a unique position for the 90th running of the Preakness at Pimlico today.

But for a broken leg suffered by Sadair last winter he might well have saddled the favorite for the 1 3-16 miles of the second leg of the triple crown for 3-year-olds, which also includes the Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes. Instead he sent out Needles Count, the outsider in the nine-horse field, for the 4:46 p.m. EST start.

"It was like losing a member of your family," said the 260-pound Lear, who when some 35 pounds lighter played in the line for Cleveland, Los Angeles and Detroit in the National Football League and then coached the Calgary Stampeders of the Canadian League for five years.

With nine starters the gross value of the Preakness will be $180,600 with $128,100 going to the winner, $30,000 to second, $501,00 to third and $7,500 to fourth. The deadline for scratching was 4 p.m. with condition calling for a $1,000 starting fee.

With the thermometer hovering near the 85 degree mark, a crowd of 35,000 was expected to pack the ancient racing plant, which was modernized several years ago with the addition of a new clubhouse.

Kentucky Derby winner Lucky Debonair, fully recovered from a minor ankle injury that threatened to keep him out of the race, remained the strong favorite to capture the classic. The West Coast horse hopes to become the ninth horse and the first since Citation in 1948 to win the coveted triple crown.

Lucky's chief opposition figured to come from little Tom Rolfe, third in the Derby, with the fleet Flag Raiser also presented a major problem. Willie Shoemaker, aboard Lucky Debonair, let Flag Raiser set the pace for one mile of the 1¼ miles of the Derby, then took the lead and held off Dapper Dan's mighty finish for a neck decision.

Lucky Debonair's other well regarded rivals included Dapper Dan, who lost some support with a slow workout this week; Native Charger, the big winner in Florida last winter and Hail To All. Swift Ruler, and Selari round out the field.

Patterson Wins With Quickie KO

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — A happy Floyd Patterson prepared today to start a Sweden exhibition tour Sunday in the wake of his quick knockout of Tod Herring.

Patterson, the former world heavyweight champion from New York, stopped his unranked opponent from Houston in the third round Friday night for his fifth straight victory since he lost the title to Sonny Liston.

Referee Teddy Waltham of Great Britain stopped the fight after 40 seconds of the third round. Herring was hanging helpless on the ropes and Waltham said "one more punch from such a hard-hitting fighter as Patterson could have killed him."

Western Hills Eyes Third Baseball Title

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Western Hills, gunning for its third state Class AA high school baseball title, carries a 23-0 record into the regionals. Western beat Cincinnati Withrow 10-1 in a district final Friday and plays 1962 state champ North Bend Taylor, 4-1 victory Friday over Franklin, in a regional semifinal next weekend.

Dick Stuart, now with the Phils, had the eighth best slugging average in the American League last season with .491. He also struck out 130 times.

ran soldiers was an "insult to the Dominican democratic revolution and to the democratic conscience of the Americas." Bosch said the Honduran army less than two years ago overthrew constitutional government in that country in a coup he said was similar to the one that ousted him in 1963.

Thant instructed the four-man group to "prepare the way on the spot for the early arrival" of a representative he planned to appoint to personally investigate the Dominican situation.

The United States joined in the unanimous vote on the resolution, sponsored by the Ivory Coast, Jordan and Malaysia. It also called for a "strict cease-fire."

The United States had fought for two weeks to keep the council from doing anything that would detract from the OAS operation. Then the junta's planes raided the rebel radio and a rebel complaint spurred the council to action.

Pickaway Grange

SCIOTO VALLEY

Scioto Valley Grange celebrated it 50th anniversary Tuesday with about 100 persons attending.

There were 59 charter members — ten still living in the area. Those receiving their 50-year certificates and pins were Will W. Fischer, Altha Pierce, Mrs. Arthur Sark and Miss Gladys Vause. Receiving 25-year awards were Mrs. Ralph Fisher and Edwin Swayer.

The program opened with the Officers' March and singing of "The Star Spangled Banner". The history of the grange was read by John F. Dowler; an original poem was read by La Donna Hayslip and several songs were sung by The Mettalarks.

Five past masters were present and recognized. They were Harry Speakman, Luther Smith, Frank Hudson, Ben Duvall, Harold Fischer and the present master of the grange, Harold Bumgarner.

State officers and guests were introduced by Dowler and each one gave a brief talk. They were Byron Frederick, junior superintendent; T. G. Watson, lecturer of the Ohio State Grange; Mrs. Watson; Edward Rowles; state grange; Mrs. Rowles; Gustav Umbach, youth director of the state grange; and Mrs. John Dowler.

A dinner followed at tables decorated with gold candles and yellow flowers in gold vases.

Mrs. Tayor Lutz, Mrs. Chester Fausnaugh and Mrs. Donald Cavis were in charge of the dining room and were assisted by several other members in serving the dinner.

13 Voters Indicted In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Thirteen Cleveland voters indicted by the Cuyahoga County grand jury on and illegal voting will be arraigned Monday.

They face possible sentences of up to five years if convicted.

The indictments Friday stemmed from an election board investigation of address-switching by voters. The board mailed 134,733 post cards to voters to double check addresses before the general election last Nov. 3, according to Philip F. Marquard, assistant county prosecutor.

The Board of Elections reported that 25,399 cards came back undelivered, and second cards were sent out. If these cards were returned, the names were removed from the precinct books.

On Election Day, Marquard said, some 400 persons descended on the election board offices to protest the fact their names were not registered. All were asked to take an oath and sign an affidavit swearing they lived at the addresses listed.

About 250 persons walked out, but 150 took the oath and signed.

After the election, the election board investigated the 150 who signed affidavits. It was that investigation which led to the indictments.

All 13 were indicted for illegal voting, and 11 were indicted for both offenses. The 13 included a teacher at Patrick Henry Junior High School on the East Side.

Counterfeit Bills Passed By Teen Boys

CLEVELAND (AP)—Counterfeiters are using teen-age youths to pass phony $20 bills, says Wilmer K. Deckard, Secret Service agent in charge of the Cleveland office.

Carl J. Scalabrino and a friend, John M. Mafrici, 21, both of Cleveland, were charged Friday in U. S. District Court with passing a counterfeit $20 bill.

"We sent a similar case over to Juvenile Court last month," said Asst. U. S. Atty. Robert J. Rotatori.

Deckard said the notes have been turning up all over the country. "This is a new angle counterfeiters are trying," Deckard said, "getting teen-agers to buy and pass phony money."

Rotatori said East Side youths have been paying $2 for the counterfeit twenties.

Last week a 23-year-old man was sentenced to five years in prison for selling 33 counterfeit $10 bills to East Side youths His brother is in county jail on a similar charge involving 167 notes.

City Police Recover Car

The Circleville Police Department recovered a car stolen out of Columbus early today and apprehended a 17-year-old juvenile who has been charged with taking the vehicle.

Sgt. Turney Ross and Patrolman Wesley Barton became suspicious of the car and gave chase at 7 a. m. They stopped the car at Routes 138 and 22.

Police Chief Robert Temple said the car was recovered before it owner realized it had been stolen. There was no apparent damage to the vehicle.

Jemison Pleads Innocent In 2 Columbus Slayings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Attorneys for Richard H. Jemison, the 56-year-old accused slayer of his wife and a drug store manager, entered pleas of innocent for him today when he was arraigned in Municipal Court on two charges of first-degree murder.

Jemison had been returned here Friday night from Pontiac, Ill., where he was captured by Illinois state police last Wednesday.

Jemison, smartly dressed in a gray suit and a yellow shirt, stood with his hands in his pocket during the proceedings before Municipal Judge Allan Swartzwalder. He appeared completely relaxed, but remained silent throughout the arraignment. The attorneys asked for a preliminary hearing May 25.

Judge Schwarzwalder at the same time denied a plea by the defense attorneys to re..ain police from releasing statements made by Jemison. Jerry Weiner, one of the attorneys who will defend Jemison, protested to Schwarzwalder that publicized statements Jemison had allegedly made to police will make it difficult to assure him a fair trial.

"The police department is under the jurisdiction of this court," Weiner said. "It is the court's obligation to halt the release of any more of the information we've seen in the papers or heard on radio."

"The court, indeed, has no authority to tell policemen to be quiet," Schwarzwalder replied. "That is outside of my jurisdiction. I think it is a matter of discretion on the part of the police to determine what should and should not be released to the press."

The body of Jemison's wife, Virginia, 49, was found in her home Tuesday about 20 hours after John Lyman, 36, was shot to death in the Gray Drug Store in downtown Columbus.

Another victim of the drugstore shooting, Robert Aylor, 37, district manager for the drug chain, was in fair condition at Mt. Carmel Hospital at last report.

During the nine-hour ride Friday from Pontiac, Ill., where he was captured, homicide squad Sgt. Ralph Decker said Jemison related that he shot Lyman in revenge for his wife who he said he killed because he loved her and didn't want to see her hurt any more. His wife had been discharged from the store several months ago on the recoommendation of a detective agency.

Jemison had no destination in mind when he was captured in Illinois, Sgt. Decker said, adding that Jemison told him he was just waiting to be picked up."

Jemison had been married three times previously. One of his wives, Mary Louise Hennigan Jemison, died in Greenfield, Highland County, on April 18, 1955, and her death was attributed to a heart ailment.

However, after the Columbus shootings, Highland County Prosecutor John O. Crouse and Coroner Dr. Glen Doan said they will look further into the circumstances surrounding her death.

Erhard Plans U.S. Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany will call on President Johnson early next month after he receives an honorary degree from Columbia University.

Academic Critics of U.S. Viet Policy Open Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — A prominent professor led off a mass debate on Viet Nam today with a slashing attack on President Johnson's policy.

Chicago University Prof. Hans .J Morgenthau declared the administration's true aim is not to secure freedom for the South Vietnamese people, but is to contain Communist China.

And that, Morgenthau declared, is leading the United States into a massive land war on the Asian mainland which the United States cannot win.

He predicted America might have as many as 300,000 troops in Indochina within six months the way things are going now.

Academic critics of the administration's policy locked horns with Johnson supporters during a scheduled 15-hour "teach-in" or discussion —ending at midnight —staged in a Washington hotel ballroom and carried by closed circuit radio to some 120 campuses around the nation.

The debate is an outgrowth of considerable criticism on American campuses of President Johnson's Southeast Asia policy and the administration's desire to explain the policy to professors and students.

Johnson picked as his No. 1 debater McGeorge Bundy, his adviser on national security affairs who was a Harvard dean before President John F. Kennedy brought him to the White House in 1961.

Pitted against Bundy is George M. Kahin, a political science professor at Cornell University.

Other government participant include Walt W. Rostow, State Department policy planner who taught at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and William J. Jordan, a one-time Yale teacher who is depty assistant secretary of state for public affairs.

The administration forces are being augmented by some academicans, too. These include Prof. Robert Scigliano of Michigan State, Paul Seabury of California University and Arthur Schlesinger Jr. of Harvard, formerly a Kennedy foreign policy aide.

Prominent among the academic critics are Hans J. Morgenthau of the University of Chicago, Henry A. Kissinger of Harvard, author-lecturer Isaac Deutcher, Eric Wolf of the University of Michigan and D. F. Fleming of California State College.

The discussion was set up by a campus-based group called "The Inter-University Committee for a Public Hearing on Viet Nam." Similar "teach-ins," but on a smaller scale, have been sponsored by critics of the administration program at some 50 schools over the past two months.

One of the organizers, William Livant of Michigan University, estimated today's lengthy session will cost about $20,000. He said this amount was being collected by voluntary contributions of $1 to $1,000.

The National Educational Television System is expected to cover some of the proceedings live.

13 Voters Indicted In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Thirteen Cleveland voters indicted by the Cuyahoga County grand jury on and illegal voting will be arraigned Monday.

They face possible sentences of up to five years if convicted.

The indictments Friday stemmed from an election board investigation of address-switching by voters. The board mailed 134,733 post cards to voters to double check addresses before the general election last Nov. 3, according to Philip F. Marquard, assistant county prosecutor.

The Board of Elections reported that 25,399 cards came back undelivered, and second cards were sent out. If these cards were returned, the names were removed from the precinct books.

On Election Day, Marquard said, some 400 persons descended on the election board offices to protest the fact their names were not registered. All were asked to take an oath and sign an affidavit swearing they lived at the addresses listed.

About 250 persons walked out, but 150 took the oath and signed.

After the election, the election board investigated the 150 who signed affidavits. It was that investigation which led to the indictments.

All 13 were indicted for illegal voting, and 11 were indicted for both offenses. The 13 included a teacher at Patrick Henry Junior High School on the East Side.

Counterfeit Bills Passed By Teen Boys

CLEVELAND (AP)—Counterfeiters are using teen-age youths to pass phony $20 bills, says Wilmer K. Deckard, Secret Service agent in charge of the Cleveland office.

Carl J. Scalabrino and a friend, John M. Mafrici, 21, both of Cleveland, were charged Friday in U. S. District Court with passing a counterfeit $20 bill.

"We sent a similar case over to Juvenile Court last month," said Asst. U. S. Atty. Robert J. Rotatori.

Deckard said the notes have been turning up all over the country. "This is a new angle counterfeiters are trying," Deckard said, "getting teen-agers to buy and pass phony money."

Rotatori said East Side youths have been paying $2 for the counterfeit twenties.

Last week a 23-year-old man was sentenced to five years in prison for selling 33 counterfeit $10 bills to East Side youths His brother is in county jail on a similar charge involving 167 notes.

Jemison Pleads Innocent In 2 Columbus Slayings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Attorneys for Richard H. Jemison, the 56-year-old accused slayer of his wife and a drug store manager, entered pleas of innocent for him today when he was arraigned in Municipal Court on two charges of first-degree murder.

Jemison had been returned here Friday night from Pontiac, Ill., where he was captured by Illinois state police last Wednesday.

Jemison, smartly dressed in a gray suit and a yellow shirt, stood with his hands in his pocket during the proceedings before Municipal Judge Allan Swartzwalder. He appeared completely relaxed, but remained silent throughout the arraignment. The attorneys asked for a preliminary hearing May 25.

Judge Schwarzwalder at the same time denied a plea by the defense attorneys to re... ain police from releasing statements made by Jemison. Jerry Weiner, one of the attorneys who will defend Jemison, protested to Schwarzwalder that publicized statements Jemison had allegedly made to police will make it difficult to assure him a fair trial.

"The police department is under the jurisdiction of this court," Weiner said. "It is the court's obligation to halt the release of any more of the information we've seen in the papers or heard on radio."

"The court, indeed, has no authority to tell policemen to be quiet," Schwarzwalder replied. "That is outside of my jurisdiction. I think it is a matter of discretion on the part of the police to determine what should and should not be released to the press."

The body of Jemison's wife, Virginia, 49, was found in her home Tuesday about 20 hours after John Lyman, 36, was shot to death in the Gray Drug Store in downtown Columbus.

Another victim of the drugstore shooting, Robert Aylor, 37, district manager for the drug chain, was in fair condition at Mt. Carmel Hospital at last report.

During the nine-hour ride Friday from Pontiac, Ill., where he was captured, homicide squad Sgt. Ralph Decker said Jemison related that he shot Lyman in revenge for his wife who he said he killed because he loved her and didn't want to see her hurt any more. His wife had been discharged from the store several months ago on the recoommendation of a detective agency.

Jemison had no destination in mind when he was captured in Illinois, Sgt. Decker said, adding that Jemison told him he was just waiting to be picked up."

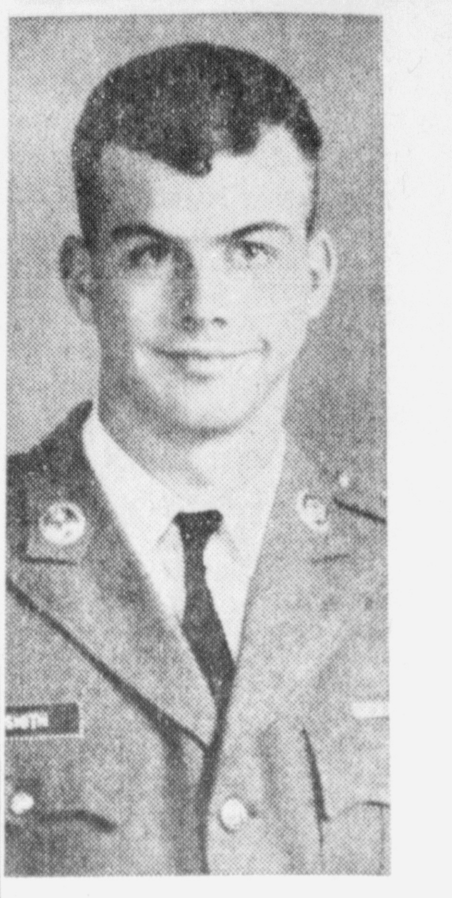
Karen Dum, a senior at Teays Valley High School, has been given an annual award presented by The Readers Digest Assn. for students who, by their successful school work, give promise of attaining leadership in the community.

Miss Dum will receive an honorary subscription to the monthly publication for one year "in recognition of past accomplishment and in anticipation of unusual achievement to come."

The Readers Digest Assn. presents the awards to 1965 graduates in senior high schools throughout the United States and Canada.

Miss Dum is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Dum, Ashville.



WILLIAM L. SMITH JR.

Local Cadet To Graduate

A cadet from Circleville is a member of the senior class at Castle Heights Military Academy and is scheduled to receive a diploma during commencement exercises on May 30.

He is Cadet William Lafayette Smith Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Smith, 379 Markley Road.

Cadet Smith is a sergeant in the ROTC, a member of the Key Club and wrestling team at the military school located at Lebanon, Tenn.

The commencement weekend will begin Friday, May 28, when the Commencement Ball will be held. Military activities and presentatoin of awards will highlight the Saturday program.
